Manhunt Continues For Suspect

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The mysterious Eric Starvo Galt has been charged with conspiracy and murder in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The FBI said in a fugitive warrant issued Wednesday night in Birmingham, Ala., that Galt, 36, conspired with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother" to violate King's civil rights.

The state charge of first-degree murder was filed against Galt in Memphis where King, 39, Nobel Prize winning civil rights leader, was shot to death on a motel balcony April 4 by a sniper who fled from a nearby rooming house.

Death Penalty

The charge against Galt, however, is contained in a warrant. Before he could stand trial, he must be indicted by a grand jury.

First-degree murder in Tennessee carries the death penalty although the electric chair has not been used in the state since 1960.

The maximum penalty under the federal charge of conspiracy to violate a person's civil rights is a $5,000 fine and 10-year prison sentence.

There was no further mention in the FBI statement about the alleged brother and no charge was filed against him.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced in Washington that the conspiracy to "injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate" King began "on or about March 30" in Birmingham.

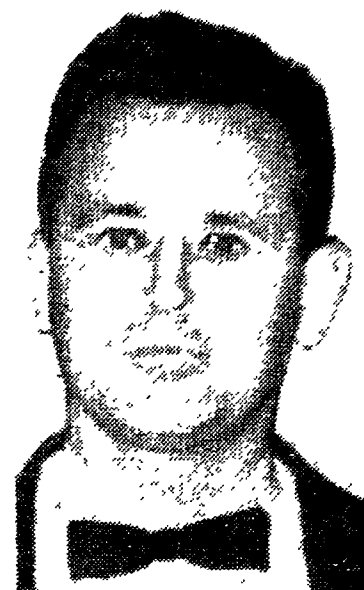

The FBI statement said a .30-06 rifle equipped with a telescopic sight found near the rooming house shortly after King was slain was purchased March 30 in Birmingham.

The statement did not connect Galt directly with the rifle.

The FBI released a photograph of Galt and solicited public aid in finding him. Whether this appeal meant the trail had become cold was unclear, but U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark told a reporter in Washington that he felt this was not the situation.

Suspect Identified by Californians

Eric Starvo Galt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men say they told the FBI that a man identified as Eric Starvo Galt was a shy, quiet man who spent $700 in three months on dancing and bartending lessons.

The managers of a dancing school and a bartending school told newsmen Wednesday they identified a former pupil to the FBI as Galt, who is wanted in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., April 4 in Memphis, Tenn.

Rod Arvidson, 46, general manager of National Dance Studios, said he notified the FBI Saturday after recognizing Galt from a composite drawing in a newspaper.

"He's certainly no mixer," Arvidson said. "He had trouble coordinating one foot with another."

A photograph of Galt circulated by the FBI was obtained Tuesday from the International School of Bartending, the school's director said. The director, Tomas Reyes Lau, said a man called Eric S. Galt was graduated from the Hollywood school March 2 after an excellent record in a $225 four-week course, which he attended Saturday mornings and Sunday afternoons.

Galt's application listed his address as Hollywood and his birthdate as July 30, 1931 and stated he was single. The FBI in Washington, D.C., said the wanted man was 36.

As a student of bartending and dancing, not only Lau and Arvidson but two dance instructors agreed Galt was withdrawn and a loner. "He just didn't show anything but a crooked smile and a fidgety manner," said an instructor, Kathy Nolan, 21.

Arvidson said a man who signed enrollment records as Eric S. Galt took "50 or 60" lessons in social dancing over a 2½ month period ending in mid-February which cost him about $500.

Galt told Arvidson he had operated a restaurant-bar in Mexico, the manager said. But Arvidson, who is taking Spanish lessons, said Galt failed to respond when he put questions in Spanish to him.

Lau, a Mexican-American, said he felt Galt was intelligent. But Arvidson, agreeing with an FBI description, said Galt's grammar "was less than ideal, mixing tenses, double negatives and so on" with a slight Southern accent.

Telephone Workers' Walkout Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 200,000 AFL-CIO Communications Workers are on the verge of the first nationwide telephone strike in 21 years, but their possible walkout isn't expected to interfere much with service.

Although talks continued in Washington, New York and elsewhere as today's 3 p.m. EST strike deadline neared, "We have regrettably reached the point of no return," said union President Joseph A. Beirne.

We will maintain service and it will be good service," said H. I. Romnes, chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent firm of the strike-threatened Bell Telephone System.

Heaviest impact of a strike would be on new telephone installations around the country because 23,000 installers who work for Bell's subsidiary Western Electric Co. are involved.

"Despite lengthy attempts by both sides, I am convinced it is now too late to avoid the strike," Beirne said in a statement issued from union headquarters in Washington.

"I don't think it is too late to avert a strike," responded Romnes, who was in Boston Wednesday for an annual AT&T board meeting.

"It is too bad Mr. Beirne has now apparently decided to lead his members into strike action," Romnes said.

Beirne, who described the nationwide Bell System as a "30 billion dollar computer," conceded a strike would have little immediate impact on the company or telephone users.

'File of Junk'

But he said without the skills of union members who repair and keep the vast telephone system running, "that computer will eventually become an enormous pile of junk."

The union said a strike would probably hamper some long-distance calls, information requests and other services requiring operators.

Romnes said there might be some initial confusion at the start of a strike, but that supervisors would quickly take over the tasks of telephone operators.

Western Electric Co. agreed in New York to discuss new union proposals but Patrick J. Morgan, chief negotiator for the 23,000 telephone installers, said, "There's no way in the world other than a miracle to avoid the strike. We'll be out at 3 p.m."

The installers, pattern wage setters for the union, now average $3.27 per hour. Other Bell System workers involved in the threatened strike in 14 states and the District of Columbia average $2.79.

Company wage offers of 7.5 per cent, rejected by the union, would give pay raises averaging about 24 cents per hour to installers and about 20 cents to the other workers over 18 months.

The Bell System said its offer was the equivalent of 5.6 per cent on an annual basis, but that the union was demanding increases of 10.5 per cent over 18 months—7.8 per cent when figured annually.

'Lack of Good Will'

Hanoi Again Raps Insincerity of U.S.

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam demanded today that the United States "agree without delay" to Phnom Penh or Warsaw as the site for preliminary peace talks and also stop all attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

The demand, in the official Communist Party newspaper Nhan Dan, repeated the charge that the United States is insincere in its talk of peace efforts.

"Once again," it said, "we demand that the U.S. government give up its attitude that shows a lack of good will and agree without delay to either Phnom Penh or Warsaw for the site of contacts. We demand that the United States stop definitively and unconditionally its bombing and other acts of war on the whole territory of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may begin."

Presumably this latter referred to later peace negotiations, since the commentary noted that Hanoi had agreed to preliminary talks despite "limited bombing" attacks ordered by President Johnson.

Nhan Dan said Johnson, in his speech in Honolulu Monday, attempted to blame North Vietnam for the delay in the start of the preliminary talks.

"Obviously, the U.S. President wanted to make public opinion believe that if contacts still have not been made between the two sides it is because of delay and lack of seriousness on the part of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam government," the paper said.

"This is clearly a complete reversal of truth aimed at coping with public opinion which is protesting against the U.S. government."

Diplomats in Washington from some of the countries allied with the United States in Vietnam said the U.S. government had objected to Phnom Penh and Warsaw because it had promised the preliminary talks would be held, if possible, in a neutral Asian country to which South Vietnam and its

Pakistan Willing

RAWLPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — The United States asked Pakistan today if it would agree to having Vietnam peace talks here and Pakistan replied its willingness. Pakistan has no diplomatic representation here from Hanoi or Saigon but does have legations here from Moscow, Peking and Washington.

Asian allies could send observer delegations.

This was expected to provoke a new howl from Hanoi, which has given every indication that it assumes the preliminary talks will be confined to the United States and North Vietnam, with their sole purpose the ending of all American attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

However, Asian diplomats in Washington said the United States has turned down South Vietnam's proposal for a summit conference of the seven allied nations with troops in Vietnam. The informants said the United States let it be known it is not enthusiastic for a summit before the initial contacts are made with Hanoi.

Navy Research Shows:

Universe to End (in 10 Billion Years)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy researchers report they've obtained evidence the universe is a curved, closed system—and therefore inexorably doomed to fiery destruction some 10 billion years from now.

They said the new findings—gleaned from the flight of an Aerobee rocket—appear to provide a possibly definite answer to a great cosmological question that has plagued scientists for generations.

Will the now-expanding universe, with its millions of star-filled galaxies, grow forever—or is it a closed system whose expansion will gradually slow to a stop, with catastrophic results?

Dr. Richard C. Henry of the Naval Research Laboratory, who reported the findings Wednesday on behalf of a five-man research team, said the rocket-gathered evidence "indicates strongly that the universe is closed."

He said such a system, would "fall inward until all the galaxies condense again to one great fireball of matter and radiation."

Henry, 28, a research fellow supported by the National Science Foundation, reported to a special symposium marking the dedication of NRL's new Hulburt Center for Space Research.

He amplified in an interview: The Aerobee rocket, in a 100-mile-high flight above the White Sands, N.M., missile range last September, detected and measured certain cosmic x-rays coming from galaxies beyond the Milky Way.

That evidence indicated there may be 100 times as much matter dispersed in the vast reaches of space between galaxies as there is in all the mass of all the galaxies combined.

Henry explained that a closed universe—with a curved-space boundary—contains a certain amount of material within it. The amount is vastly greater than that of an open or ever-expanding universe.

"These observations of the Aerobee," he said, "indicate that there's enough matter in the universe to produce the complete curvature required for a closed universe."

Johnson Heads Back to Ranch, Has Meeting With Eisenhower

around the air base apron while awaiting Eisenhower, who flew in 15 minutes later from his winter home at Palm Desert.

The two dined aboard Air Force 1 while Johnson briefed Eisenhower on his Hawaii talks. Johnson interrupted a Texas Easter vacation to fly to Hawaii Monday for discussions on Vietnam strategy with his Pacific military commanders and then Wednesday's parley with Park.

Fear Bypass
A 1,000-word joint communique and a warm embrace by Johnson of his important Asian ally climaxed the meeting which grew out of a strain in U.S.-Korean relations following last January's North Korean assassination attempt against Park and seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

South Korea has nearly 50,000 troops with the allied forces in South Vietnam, and some of the allied Asian leaders have been making it plain they do not want to be bypassed in any peace negotiations. Some have also voiced misgivings Johnson may be too soft toward the Communists with his peace bids.

Johnson reassured Park on this score during an eight-hour session much of which featured intimate talks by the two with no one but interpreters present.

Park publicly endorsed Johnson's cutback in bombing of North Vietnam and other efforts—still unsuccessful—to get talks with Hanoi under way.

And Johnson went on from the conference site to a reception for Park where he warmly put his arm around Park's shoulder and praised him as "that great and gallant leader."

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced Wednesday that Army Spec. 4 Frank Herrera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Herrera of Green Bay, has been killed in action in Vietnam. He had been listed as missing.

Johnson added in a short speech: "I deeply believe that my successor—whatever he may be—will act in ways that will reflect America's abiding interest in Asia's freedom and security."

The communique was drawn up by the two chiefs during their discussions at the ocean-side estate of the late industrialist Henry J. Kaiser and dealt with two principal questions: Vietnam and Korea.

On Vietnam, the joint statement said:

"Coupled with continued resolution and military firmness," the common goal of the allies of an honorable and secure peace requires "the earnest pursuit of a diplomatic solution"—and they hope "serious talks on the substance of peace could begin in the near future."

Johnson reviewed developments over the past fortnight since his bombing curtailment to encourage peace contacts and Park "expressed his satisfaction with these developments."

B52s Rain Bombs On Valley in South

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of American B52s hit South Vietnam's A Chau Valley with more than 1,500 tons of bombs Wednesday and today in the war's heaviest aerial blows for a 24-hour period.

At least 60 of the eight-engine Stratofortresses streaked over the valley from bases in Thailand and Guam to bomb North Vietnamese truck parks, storage areas and troop concentrations.

The 25-mile-long valley has become the No. 1 target for the B52 saturation bombing. Senior U.S. officers believe the North Vietnamese may be using the valley as a staging area for another major attack on Hue, 25 miles to the northeast.

Intelligence reports told of a steadily increasing buildup of troops, trucks and possibly tanks in the valley as well as construction of new roads. A military spokesman said one flight of B52s attacked "tracked vehicles," which could be either tanks or armored personnel carriers.

The Communist command is believed to have 25 to 30 battalions in the Hue area, perhaps 15,000 to 18,000 men. The valley is used to funnel enemy troops and supplies from Laos eastward to the fringes of the old imperial capital on the coast where the enemy made his most determined stand during the lunar new year offensive in February.

Moved Into Valley

Vietnamese sources report that the North Vietnamese 325C Division, once deployed around the Khe Sanh base 50 miles to the north, has moved into the A Chau Valley.

Since April 1, the B52s have flown 55 separate missions over the area, with each mission averaging about six planes. An estimated 8,000 tons of explosives have been dropped.

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops battled enemy forces in the Mekong Delta and along the northern frontier Wednesday.

In the biggest battle, U.S. infantrymen from the 95th Division reported killing 78 Viet Cong in day-long fighting in the delta 43 miles southwest of Saigon. Four Americans were reported killed and 15 wounded.

Alleged Spy Activities Normal, U.S. Claims

Soviets Say Doings of Attaches Bordered on 'Open Espionage'

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy says its five military attaches who got in trouble with Soviet authorities were engaged in activities "which are perfectly normal and accepted on the part of military attaches the world over," including those of the Soviet Union in America.

The five Americans and a Canadian military attaché were accused of carrying their intelligence gathering missions too far and verging on "open espionage" in two incidents last week at a Leningrad shipyard and a military base in White Russia.

The U.S. Embassy said the incidents were "staged" and the immunity of the five Americans had been violated. The Canadian Embassy also rejected the Soviet charges.

There was no indication the Soviet government would expel the six men.

Shipyard Incident

The official government newspaper Izvestia said three of the Americans and the Canadian had gone beyond the bounds of permissible behavior April 8 at the shipyard and the other two Americans had entered a closed military area at Borisov, in White Russia northeast of Minsk, the next day.

Izvestia said the Canadian, Lt. Col. J. V. Watson, acted as a lookout at the shipyard while three Americans—Lt. Cmdr. Robert Hamer of Harrisburg, Pa., Lt. Cmdr. Ralph N. Channell of Darien, Conn., and Marine Lt. Col. Wayne E. Richards of Colusa, Calif.—took pictures.

'Short Tower'

Watson said they took no pictures and didn't intend to.

Pilot Killed In Crash West Of Waukesha

WAUKESHA (AP)—The pilot of a light plane was killed late Wednesday night when the craft crashed in a farm field shortly after taking off from the Waukesha County airport.

The victim was identified as Robert J. Bock, 45, of New Berlin, who was flying in the Cessna 120 single-engine plane alone.

Waukesha County sheriff's officers said Bock planned to fly to Gen. Billy Mitchell Field on Milwaukee's south side, which is southeast of the Waukesha County field. The plane crashed almost directly west of the Waukesha field near the Wales School for Boys.

The plane went in low and clipped a tree before crashing in the field near the intersection of U.S. 18 and State 83.

Violations of Truce Claimed At Panmunjom

U. S., North Koreans Exchange Charges In DMZ Incidents

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United States and North Korea accused each other of violating the Korean armistice at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission today a few hours after another clash in the demilitarized zone.

U.S. Rear Adm. John V. Smith, U.N. Command member of the commission, accused North Korea of a "vicious act"—the ambush of a truck Sunday night south of Panmunjom in which two American and two South Korean soldiers were killed and two Americans wounded. He said the Communists "stole two pistols from the dead and dying men."

Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kook, North Korean member of the commission, replied that the U.N. Command was "scheming to turn the DMZ into a hotbed for hostile actions." He denied North Korea had anything to do with the ambush.

DMZ Ambush

A few hours before the meeting, the South Korean army announced that three South Korean soldiers were wounded Wednesday when their 11-man patrol was ambushed by North Korean soldiers inside the DMZ.

An army spokesman said the patrol was attacked south of the demarcation line separating South Korea from the Communist North. No North Korean casualties were reported.

A North Korean broadcast claimed "armed bandits" from South Korea attacked a Communist guard post and were repelled after a "fierce engagement." The broadcast claimed the North Koreans killed, wounded or captured several of the invaders but did not give the number of casualties.

Deny Connection

Adm. Smith called the ambush Sunday a "violent murder-atrocity." Pak replied: "We have nothing to do with the incident and we are not responsible for it."

He accused the U.N. Command of committing 172 armistice violations between March 25 and April 16 and of firing more than 3,800 rounds across the DMZ.

Smith called the Communist charges "unbelievable distortions and lies."

The U.N. Command put the truck, riddled by bullets, and some blood-stained clothing on display outside the conference room. A sign attached to the exhibits said: "This is how North Korean Communists abide by the armistice agreement."

Braggart Steward Fired by Airline

LONDON (AP) — British European Airways has fired a steward who claimed in court he slept with most of the hostesses on his flights.

Keith Lewis, 25, was acquitted 10 days ago in the Old Bailey criminal court of a charge of raping a hostess. In his testimony he said he always took hostesses out for drinks when they were waiting over in foreign cities for another flight and "I sleep with nearly all of them."

The BEA girls wrote an angry letter to the Daily Express defending their reputation Tuesday night a spokesman for the airline announced: "We have exercised our rights to give Lewis notice. We can't say why or on what level the decision was made."

Dump Rusk as Sign of Good Intentions, McCarthy Advises

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has called for removal of Dean Rusk as secretary of state as a sign of U.S. willingness to change course on the Vietnam war.

The campaigning Minnesota senator said he would be satisfied if President Johnson replaced Rusk with someone from inside the administration who has had a part in current war policy.

"Anyone who hasn't been so closely identified as Rusk," McCarthy said in an interview. He mentioned men such as William P. Bundy who, as an assistant secretary of state, has been in on Vietnam planning.

McCarthy turned his presidential campaign to Indiana today after a crowded day in Pittsburgh where he escalated his criticism of the way the Johnson administration is handling the current peace effort.

Joint Conciliation

"We must view negotiations not as the continuation of war by other means but rather as a process of joint conciliation designed to end human suffering on both sides," he told a cheering crowd of more than 4,000 persons at a Wednesday night rally.

"In view of Secretary Rusk's commitment to our policy from its outset, an encouraging sign of the administration's willingness to change its course would, I think, be his replacement as secretary of state."

Kennedy Debate

McCarthy, who faces Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York in the May 7 Indiana primary, asked his rival to meet him in televised campaign debates. "I think this kind of joint appearance is more helpful in the primaries where contrast of persons is most important than in national elections where there are party positions and issues," McCarthy said.

Kennedy, in Eugene, Ore., said he would not debate McCarthy alone. "He's not the only candidate," Kennedy said. "All of the candidates should be involved."

"It was kind of as though he wanted tag wrestling," McCarthy said.

Use of Nuclear Arms Subject of Clifford's First NATO Meeting

THE HAGUE (AP) — Clark Clifford, the new U.S. defense secretary, met with Cabinet ministers from six Atlantic allies for the first time today to plan the use of NATO's nuclear arsenal against any threat from the Soviet Union.

Police were out in unusual numbers in case of demonstrations against the Vietnam war or nuclear weapons as the ministers arrived for the two-day meeting in the Princess Juliana barracks.

Attending with Clifford are Defense Ministers Denis Healey of Britain, Gerhard Schroeder of West Germany, Leo Carducci of Canada, Roberto Tremelloni of Italy, Willem Den Toon of Holland, and Foreign Minister Panayotis Pipinelis of Greece.

General Understanding

Clifford, on his first visit to Europe as defense secretary, said on his arrival there is general understanding that a massive antiballistic missile defense would not be effective in Western Europe. Europeans dismiss the project as too costly and not capable of doing the job.

They are more concerned with the 7,000 tactical nuclear weapons the United States has placed on the continent and how to keep them from being used in a way that would bring Soviet retaliation against Western Europe.

"These weapons have been around for years without the Europeans taking much interest in how or why they were deployed," said one expert. "Now all that is changing."

The seven ministers make up the Nuclear Planning Group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Their problem is how to keep the Soviets guessing about what the West may do but not worry them enough to provoke an attack.

Soviet Uncertainty

Harlan Cleveland, U.S. representative on the NATO Council, said not long ago: "The Soviets are bound to be in a quandary as to what we propose to do with these weapons. Their uncertainty is soundly rooted in our own."

Main topics before the meeting are antiballistic missiles, the use of tactical nuclear weapons and the use of atomic land mines.

The talks, in American eyes, constitute a seminar that should put the Europeans in position to make an intelligent decision if they must ever help decide whether nuclear weapons should be used.

Draft Policy Needs Study in Depth

Although there seems to be progress toward getting peace talks started, there has not been nor should there be, any decrease in draft calls in the United States at this time. But proposals for drafting large numbers of graduate students should be modified.

While it is true that graduate schools have been used by some young men as havens from the draft, the wholesale drafting of such students now could seriously harm future American programs in a number of areas. Only those studying medicine or in theological seminaries are exempted under the announcement made by Selective Service authorities in February. Obviously there will be shortages in future years of teachers, engineers, chemists, lawyers, physicists and specialists in the humanities.

Professional educators have called for a system which would theoretically put all draft age young men — from 19 years through 26 — except for the now exempt undergraduate students, in a pool. They would be called to active duty according to birth dates with those born in January being called first, according to local draft requirements.

Fred Harvey Harrington, president of the University of Wisconsin, points out that "we're not seeking wholesale deferments. We would like to see a broadened manpower pool established so that some of the students who graduate from college and may be planning to go on to graduate studies will be eligible for the draft but not all of them." Harrington backs an end to all student deferments and a random lottery of all youths. However, most educators would accept the enlarged pool even with undergraduate deferments.

A random selection also would be more equitable to the young men who do not go on to college at all or those who leave college early. In a time of war the draft does not only demand that young men give up a couple of years of their lives to military service. There is the possibility that they may also have to give their lives or risk severe bodily harm. And from the strictly military viewpoint, spreading out draft calls among all ages of eligible youth would be more practical than the current emphasis upon those at the upper age limit or the youngest who do not go to college and therefore become eligible at 19.

Furthermore, once this war is over, Congress should not sweep the matter under the rug and forget about it until another crisis comes along. That should be the time for a thorough review of our military needs and consideration of policies which could make a volunteer, professional military force sufficient except in case of an all-out war.

At present, we see no reason why young men should not be required to give some time to military service. But the present draft policy is not equitable and also threatens the development of the nation in important areas in the next decade.

The Menace of Lawlessness

With all allowances made for the provocations some of the elements of American society have endured, the decent and responsible citizen has reason to be concerned and angry, nevertheless, about the arson, and the looting, and the damaging riots in some of the major American cities during this period of militancy of the American Negro.

The pity and the tragedy of these events is that so often it is the underprivileged inhabitant of the black ghetto who is the principal sufferer from such unbridled violence.

Somebody has suggested that it may be timely to repeat in the nation's press, and on its radio, and on its television channels, the moving and wise words of a great American during another time in American history when society throbbed with crisis and apprehension.

Here is Abraham Lincoln on lawlessness and what to do about it:

"Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to her lisping babe . . . let it be taught in schools, seminaries and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books, and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in the courts of justice. . . . Let it become the political religion of the nation. . . . And let old and young, rich and the poor, the grave and the gay . . . sacrifice unceasingly on its altars."

America's great folk hero was a man for all seasons, as these eloquent lines tell us.

Telling the Visitors

One of our staff writers tells a story about the frequent naivete of big city reporters who occasionally travel the highways and byways of this state, as in the recent presidential primary campaigns.

In one instance he had volunteered to provide transportation in his automobile from a central Wisconsin city to Milwaukee, where a major rally for a presidential nominee was scheduled for the evening. The route was through characteristic Wisconsin farm districts, with neatly fenced fields, grazing dairy cows, tall silos, and vast areas given over to the staple crops of our rural livestock economy.

One of the metropolitan scribes who had been attentively studying the landscape pointed at a field of green grain and asked:

"What is that?"

As it happened, it was a field of oats, which with corn and hay dominates our livestock feed crop acreage. The episode was amusing to our man, although he was polite enough to dissemble. Instead, during the rest of the drive he pointed out and named other characteristic features of the Wisconsin rural landscape.

The incident is recalled in connection with the imaginative suggestion of a public relations advisor for the Governor's Board of Economic Development for an organized program of identifying the sights along our highways, even those that are commonplace to us.

MENASHA — In the land office here there is a trial progressing to ascertain whether an alleged island at the mouth of the Menominee River really is an island, and therefore subject to survey.

Myron A. Decker, attorney for Emily A. Brow, who claims the affirmative, and E. H. Ellis of Green Bay claiming the opposite as attorney for Spaulding et al. The trial promises to be interesting (Menasha was the location of the state land office, at this period).

Dr. P. A. Chadbourne, President of the State University, will deliver a lecture in Appleton, at Lawrence University, under the auspices of the Phoenix Society. The subject of his talk will be "Moral Chemistry: Elements and Forces in Society."

During our residence in this city, we have noticed that popular lectures, much to our surprise, are not well attended — except when admittance is free. Is this as it should be? The Phoenix Society has furnished numerous literary entertainments for our citizens, cheerfully bearing the burden of expense. We trust the paltry sum of 25 cents will not frighten people away in Appleton from the College Chapel next Friday evening.

One-Man Presidency Weakness Shows in Peace Talks Planning

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — Talks with Hanoi may still get under way soon. But plainly they are starting on the wrong foot.

For just when it was useful to build confidence, a series of incidents on the Washington end have intensified suspicion and mistrust on the other side. And these incidents have called into question anew the controversial role of the President's special assistant for national security affairs, Walt W. Rostow.

A good example of the incidents in question arises from the search for a high-ranking official to back up Ambassador W. Averell Harriman who will do the actual negotiating with the other side. Some such official was sought in part because, at 76, Ambassador Harriman is not young; but mainly because the Vietnam hawks inside the administration feel that, in his eagerness to get talks going, Harriman has become soft on the other side.

Thompson Replaced
Originally, in his March 31 speech, the President designated the American Ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn

Thompson, to work with Harriman. But it soon became plain that naming the Ambassador to Moscow would tend to identify the Soviet Union with the American position at a time when the Russians need to show they are not in collusion with Washington in order to have influence in Hanoi.

Ambassador Thompson, accordingly, has now been replaced by the former deputy secretary of defense, Cyrus Vance. But meanwhile, the Russians and the North Vietnamese have been given the impression that the United States is trying to use the talks to drive a wedge between Hanoi and Moscow.

Another incident along the same lines arises from the debate over a site for talks. Because the President had repeatedly said in the past that he would meet at any time and any place with representatives of the other side, the United States is obviously in an awkward position to quibble.

Need Diplomatic Mission
Still, there was a case to be made against sites where the absence of an American diplomatic mission would seriously impair communications. And that case obviously applied to Hanoi's first suggestion that the talks take place in Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia.

The case did not apply to the second suggestion — the suggestion of Warsaw. But by last week, the hardliners in the administration had been reinforced by optimistic reports on conditions in South Vietnam made by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and General William Westmoreland during their recent visits to Washington.

In fact, the purpose of these suggested reforms can be achieved without any of the recommended shuffles. The major requirement is that the President have confidence in the officials of his administration, that he stop being suspicious and secretive to the point of not even revealing his purpose to those charged with operational tasks. For the lesson of the incidents, indeed the lesson of the past five years, is that the one-man Presidency does not work.

Wisconsin Report

Johnson Supporters In State Completely Surprised by Dropout

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Like virtually everybody in the country, the Democratic politicians of Wisconsin were astonished, to put it mildly, when President Johnson made his historic decision to withdraw as a candidate for the renomination of his party.

Usually in such situations there are those who pretend that they had a hunch about the forthcoming event or inside information. But it is safe to say that even the best informed of the men who run the Wisconsin arm of Mr. Johnson's national party organization had no slight glimmering of such a possibility.

Yet as they view the dramatic episode in perspective today, it takes on more logic. Some of them are wondering why they did not suspect that the President was mulling over the idea of retirement.

INDIFFERENT TOWARD PRIMARY
They recall again and again the lackadaisical, tardy, and indifferent attitude of the administration toward the scheduled Wisconsin primary, in spite of the fact of its importance in the circumstances as they developed this year, and especially the energetic campaign against the president by Sen. McCarthy keyed almost wholly to a resolute resistance to the Johnson Vietnam policy.

For weeks Washington appeared to ignore the McCarthy threat in Wisconsin altogether. Then, when it had become so late in the campaign season that it had become difficult to mount an effort, there was an appearance of panic. Half a dozen of the ranking officials of the administration, led by Vice President Humphrey, frantically criss-crossed the state by airplane. A Washington professional was sent to Milwaukee to rally the local troops. The hitherto immobile state party organization went into action with the knowledge that many of its most effective workers had been diverted to the McCarthy camp, or were waiting for a signal from Robert Kennedy.

POLLS TOLD STORY
Meanwhile the polls were telling a doleful story. Virtually every representative of the national news media who came into the state for a look-see concluded that the McCarthy challenge was a dangerous one. A significant number of them wrote that Johnson's critic was likely to win for a variety of reasons including the strong probability of a heavy crossover vote.

All of which, indeed, tends to suggest that the President was searching his mind and soul about what he wanted in his future, and permits the guess that other administration officers finally decided to make their belated Wisconsin pitch when they failed to get a direct go-ahead from the White House.

It may be that what was done, or what was not done, had no relevance to the final result. The President knew better than most that he had never been popular with Wisconsin Democrats.

RECOGNIZES 1964 REASONS
If his reputation as a master of practical politics is justified, he probably knew also that his landslide vote here in 1964 represented a repudiation of the Goldwater Republican Party in this usually Republican state, rather than a tribute to a Democratic president who had never managed to establish a rapport with the local Democratic establishment.

Predictably, there are local Democrats here and there not yet convinced that the President has made an irrevocable decision. They suggest that the man with the reputation as a near-genius in practical politics may find an ace in the hole in the end.

If peace is found in Vietnam, and if the Chicago convention is deadlocked, it is possible to imagine that the party would turn to him in spite of his spectacular renunciation. But it appears to most local politicians to be a very long shot, indeed, and more appropriate as a cocktail conversation bit than as a consideration for the realistic professional politician hereabouts who has already made other commitments or is preparing to do so forthwith.

Strictly Personal Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We can easily be satisfied with a small reason, when it is in favor of doing what we have a mind to, but can find a dozen holes in a large reason, when it would deter us from doing what we have a mind to.

Parents are often surprised to hear that their "good" children at home are misbehaving rambunctiously at school — but there is almost an inverse ratio of youthful conduct, in which those children repressed at home act up in school, and those permitted free expression at home are tractable in school.

One of the most tedious and pointless phrases in an argument is the charge: "You're over-simplifying!" for it's impossible to engage in conversation without over-simplifying to some extent, and no harm is done as long as we're keenly aware that we're drawing a sketch, not an accurate blueprint.

In this connection, it's worth remembering Whitehead's axiom for scientific inquiry: "Everything should be made as simple as possible — but no more so."

Men who have something substantial to say to the world never become orators.

A high school student wants to know whether the word "dickens," as in "Where the dickens did I put that hat?," comes from the name of the author, Charles Dickens; and the answer is no "dickens" is one of the many euphemisms for "devil," and is to be found as far back as Shakespeare. ("I cannot tell what the dickens his name is.")

Running water cleanses itself, and so does an active mind; we should distrust as possibly poisonous all those ideas we have held for a decade or more without continually re-examining their source and the degree of their stagnation.

Heaven and Hell have been regarded as "spatial" concepts, which is absurd; more accurately, if they exist, Heaven and Hell are "temporal" concepts, in that Hell consists in being offered Heaven when it is too late to do us any good.

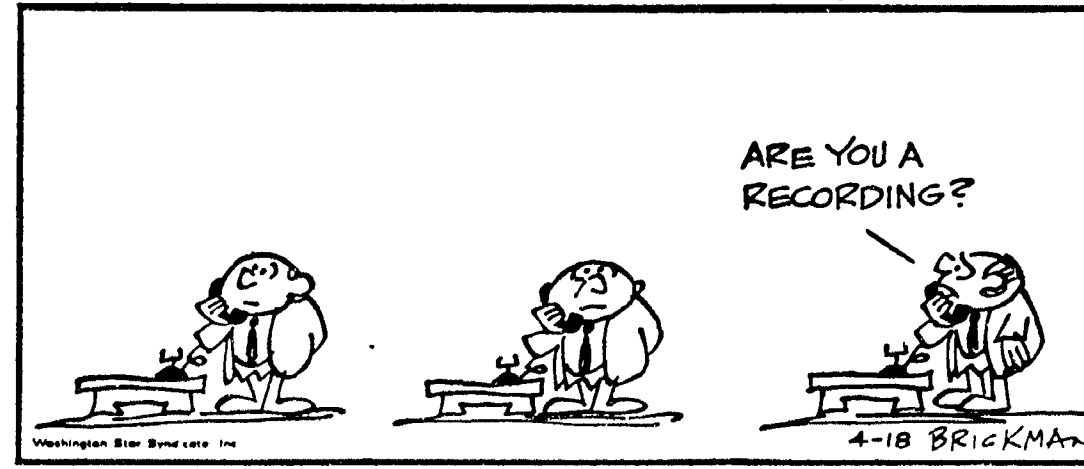

Two opposite lies may contradict each other, but truth and lying are often more complementary than contradictory — they blend with each other, like complementary colors in a picture, and therefore it is perilously easy for us to combine truth with a matching falsehood, so that the observer cannot tell where one ends and the other begins.

It's surprising how many Americans think that Lloyd's of London is an insurance company, when it's merely a location

Farmers Try New Type of 'Direct Action'

Collective Bargain Procedure Under Congress Study

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The killing of thousands of pigs by farmers demanding higher prices for them dramatizes a rising interest among farmers in direct action rather than continued reliance on the complex and elaborate federal programs designed to help them.

The direct approach is also evident in Congress, where farm legislation of an entirely new kind is being considered, based on the collective bargaining procedures guaranteed to labor and industry 30 years ago.

During those three decades, the government in an effort to hold down farm production and stabilize prices, has erected a dizzying edifice of farm law.

It takes 108,000 people to run the Department of Agriculture and it was only half-jokingly that an amendment was offered a few years ago prohibiting the department from acquiring more employees than there were farmers.

Problems Continue

Yet despite costly, often confusing legislation the problems it is supposed to solve continue. Farm prices still fluctuate sharply, production increases yearly and farm income last year was lower than it was 20 years ago.

For the small farmer—the so-called "family farmer"—Congress talks the most about helping—the situation grows steadily worse. Unable to take any of his small acreage out of production to qualify for price supports, he gets almost no benefit from the programs. Squeezed by higher costs for everything he needs, he is being forced off the land.

In the last 15 years, 15 million people have moved from the farms and rural areas into the cities, compounding the urban problems now tormenting the nation.

With the current farm programs due to expire next year both the House and Senate are in the process of reviewing them and new departures have already been suggested.

Collective Bargaining

In the Senate a bill has been introduced that would give farmers the right to bargain collectively with processors on the price of their crops. It is based on the same principle written into law in 1935 that gave organized labor the right to bargain collectively on the terms of its employment.

Originally tossed out as a suggestion by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman more than a year ago, the bill is unlikely to advance very far this year.

More promising is the future of another Senate bill that would extend the system of federal marketing agreements to all farm products. These production-and-price agreements, embodying collective bargaining procedures, now apply only to selected crops.

In the House a bill to extend the collective bargaining principle to farm labor has been approved by the House Education and Labor Committee. It would apply only to large farms,

Auto Cost Breakdown Provides Real Shocker

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Let's say you are one of the millions of Americans shopping for a new car in these spring buying weeks.

Let's say you decide on a car listed at $2,806.

Are you actually signing a contract for close to $3,000? No. What you are signing, in effect, is a contract for $11,000 covering 3,500 pounds of steel, glass and plastic to be moved 100,000 miles over a period of 10 years. Your $11,000 will break down into $2,806 plus:

$2,230 for 7,000 gallons of gasoline;
$1,800 for parking and tolls;
$1,763 for maintenance and repairs;

$1,415 for insurance;
$1,188 for State and Federal automotive taxes.

No matter how costly you guessed your car to be, these totals surely shock you. But they are authoritative estimates, made in an exhaustive study of "Auto Operating Costs" by E. M. Cope and L. L. Liston, two top officials of the U. S. Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Administration.

The example used is a four-door sedan with a list price of $2,806 plus $150 Federal excise tax. The owner was assumed to from the bottom at 1.4 cents, it still has become a major cost item, reflecting the extent to which auto accidents have become a burden even on those who never have dented a fender. But the most significant finding is the cost of depreciation, and what this tells you about how long you should keep a car.

The assumption is that a car which costs $2,806 is driven 14,500 miles the first year and 27,500 miles the first two years. Depreciation at the end of the first year comes to $842; by the end of the second year, to $1,431 or $715 per year.

If you trade in every year, depreciation alone over a 10-year period will come to $8,420 and if you trade in every second year, it will come to $7,155. This gain would seem to suggest that you would save money by keeping your car as long as you can.

But after the first two years, says the analysis, you "face a series of outlays for tire and battery replacements, repairs and incidentals that more than offset" your savings in depreciation. The startling "hard fact" is that "there is remarkably little difference between the cents-per-mile cost of a relatively new car, and the cents-per-mile cost of a car nearing the end of its days." In short, two high officials of the U. S. Government's Department of Transportation offer Detroit this delicious plum.

Assuming a normal amount of driving, keeping a car after it is two years old saves some money but not very much.

Except in states where there is a substantial property tax on the value of a car, the decision to trade in should depend on the car owner's tastes, and circumstances not on whether he is increasing or decreasing his cents-per-mile owning-operating costs.

As far as economy is concerned, you can make the decision to trade in with a clear conscience.

Had this report come from Detroit, I would have rejected it instantly as too self-serving to be trusted. But this is a Government report which to my knowledge has been buried in Washington's files until now Detroit may not have even been aware of its existence.

Negro History Will be Taught In Wisconsin

State Universities, UW System Intend To Offer Courses

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Both the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin State University system intend to add instruction in Negro history in teacher training programs, Gov. Warren P. Knowles' education cabinet was told Monday.

Dr. Leslie H. Fishel, director of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, told the cabinet that the addition is one step in many programs being aimed at increasing society's knowledge of the Negro population and at lessening racial tensions.

Fishel, reporting to the group at the request of Knowles, urged that the state through its educational agencies work as well with the Milwaukee and Madison school districts which are attempting to create Negro history programs for their schools in response to pressures from civil rights groups for the broadening of social awareness of the Negro's place in American society.

Fishel suggested that the program could be carried out through the institution of a governor's task force to bring together state agencies in the efforts.

The program should also be aimed at possible expansion to other school systems in the state which lack Negro students, Fishel said. While they lack pressures now, those local school systems may face them in the future, he said. And the graduates of those school systems should have some experience with which to face racial problems in the future, he said.

Fishel, an expert on Negro history, has authored a text on that subject and sits as a member of Knowles' education cabinet.

"There's more to education than just learning the methods of teaching," said state Supt. of Public Instruction William C. Kahl in agreeing with Fishel. "There are some real social problems that have to be identified" for student teachers, he said.

Knowles agreed with the task force proposal, and asked his cabinet to supply suggestions for state programs aimed at the educational problem.

Kahl said that while satisfactory text books for elementary and secondary school students on Negro history are few, there are many source materials available from which to work in designing such programs.

Secretary of Administration Wayne McGown reported that another Knowles' task force on racial problems — aimed at hiring minority group members for state service within civil service ranks — is now at work. The problem, he said, is in finding some way to hire Negroes and supply on the job training to meet civil service standards without violating state service laws.

Knowles said he saw the need for such a task force when he saw a state job advertisement for a parking lot attendant requiring applicants to have either five years of experience or a college education.

'Vigor' in Kaukauna

Anderson Cautious in Talk to New Council

KAUKAUNA — "As we begin another tomorrow, there are many old problems to be finished and many new problems which will arise," Mayor Gilbert Anderson said Tuesday night as he addressed the new council.

Our challenge tonight, to you as a council and to myself as a mayor, then would be to face problems realistically, to conduct a never ending search for ways and means of economizing, and if we do this, we can have a very successful year in 1968," the mayor advised.

"I do not believe that we need to be pessimistic about tomorrow's future as our community has much to be thankful for. We have had no serious disasters as many cities have faced; we have not been torn by strife or riots and uprisings as much of our nation has seen; we have not known hunger as much of the world today does, and peace still reigns in our community where lawlessness and disorder pervade a great section of the world," Anderson said.

Healthy Climate

"In order to in some way insure the healthy climate of our city, we must face the local problems at hand realistically and with renewed vigor," he stated. Pointing to completion of work on the sewage plant he advised for the need of proper management and operation. He felt the road, storm and sanitary sewer programs must be continued at a pace which would not burden future generations with double duties.

He said efforts must be made to furnish children with an excellent school system, to help prepare them for future job competition. Anderson said, "Our beautification program began a year ago and the preservation of our natural resources is of paramount concern to all of us."

"One of our most important assets, our locally owned water and electric utility, must continue to meet the demands of industry, business and our residents. Our water system has been brought up to date and our electric system is in the process of new vitalization. We should cooperate fully with this as the growth and prosperity of our city depends upon it," Anderson stated.

Interest, Concern

Public housing, the health and recreation program, annexations and population explosions were cited by the mayor as areas of interest and concern.

"It behooves us to continually search and explore areas in which we can economize in our government. I cannot promise you that our already overburdened property tax will not continue to suffer if increased demands for services are placed upon this council. There perhaps will be some ray of hope in the Tarr Committee findings and I believe that studies in the future will show that through combining regionally some of the services we now render, such as waste disposal, we can effect savings in the cost of service to our local community," Anderson concluded.

Torch Ignites Fumes, Damages Appleton Garage

Minor damage resulted from a fire in a large garage at 2608 N. Richmond St., Wednesday morning.

Appleton firemen, who responded to the 11 a.m. alarm with four units, said that sparks from a welding torch being used at the time apparently set off gasoline fumes from fuel that was leaking from a saddle tank.

Firemen, who had the fire out shortly after their arrival, said the building is owned by Clara Koehnke.

At 5:40 a.m. Wednesday, firemen were summoned with a smoke ejector to Morgan School when smoke from a stoker backed up into offices.

Firemen extinguished a grass fire along the railroad tracks in Pierce Park about 4:15 p.m. Monday and at 8 a.m. Wednesday were summoned to The Post-Crescent building when paper dust began smoldering around a basement generator.

County Gets $11,000 for Mosquito Hill

Outagamie Board Accepts Check From Citizens Conference

A check for $11,000 was presented to Outagamie County Wednesday morning by the Outagamie County Citizens Park and Recreation Conference to aid in the purchase of Mosquito Hill for a county park.

The check was presented to Board Chairman Sylvester Esler by Fred Hoffmann, Bear Creek, representing the citizens' group.

The money was donated by Home Mutual Insurance Co. in honor of its founder, Julius Bubolz, father of the company's present president, Gordon A. Bubolz.

"Living Donation"

Bubolz said that his father had been dedicated to the preservation of nature and that the check was a "living donation to serve humanity." He added that man has a responsibility for continuing the heritage of natural resources for use by future generations.

The citizens group was formed last fall to help raise money for the purchase of Mosquito Hill when a request by the county board's park and recreation committee for $75,000 was eliminated from the budget. The board has since provided $50,000 for acquisition of the site.

In other action, the board elected Supvs. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, and Herbert Helble, Appleton, as trustees for the Fox Valley Center for one year terms. Helble replaces Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton, who declined to serve again.

Bubolz told the board he felt the trustees should be members of the board's health and education committee for better liaison. DeLaHunt is committee chairman and Helble is a member of the committee.

Mobile Radio

The board also approved transfer of $900 from the contingency fund for the purchase of a mobile radio for the Town of Grand Chute's new police car.

Three personnel items received approval, including the hiring of Jack VanVonderen as a second mapmaker in the county mapping department at a salary of $470 per month; an increase in the district attorney's salary of $1,000 per year to conform with state requirements, and an increase of $200 per year for the county 4-H club agent.

Appleton Meter Maid Submits Resignation

Mrs. Frances Woehler, 808 W. Elsie St., submitted her resignation Wednesday as an Appleton Police Department meter maid.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said the resignation is effective April 30. Mrs. Woehler cited "health problems" as the reason for her resignation.

One of five meter maids, she started duty in December of 1961, resigned in September of 1964 and returned in September of 1965. Wolff said she would be replaced.

Training Can Help Color-Blind Children

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have just found out that our nine-year-old son is color-blind. The school nurse said he is in the red-green category and the doctor said the green category, just a bit. What is the difference?

I understand it is hereditary. Is this so? Two uncles on my mother's side are color-blind. Will it get worse? How does it start? Can it be cured? Why is it more in boys than girls? Can I help my son in any way? — Mrs. D.H.C.

Color-blindness is hereditary, and present in 10 times as many boys as girls, but the cause is unknown. Nobody knows how it started.

While it is incurable, there is no reason to expect it to become worse in your son's case — and color sense can be developed to some extent, to make the best use of the ability he has in this regard.

Color-blindness amounts to the inability to recognize red, green, or blue — or some combination of these colors. It is unusual for a person to lack perception of all three (although this may occur in older persons having atrophy of the optic nerve).

More usually, the color-blind person lacks the perception, in varying degrees, of one color or two colors. Further tests can determine whether your son cannot distinguish green, or cannot distinguish either red or green. The red-green combination does occur.

What can you do to help the boy? Follow the advice of your ophthalmologist (eye specialist).

The boy will have to be trained in a career which does not involve dependence on perfect color vision, but that still leaves him a wide field to choose from. He may need some help in the choice of clothes — neckties, for example — to avoid color combinations that do not blend well, but that's not a very important problem.

Color-blind people readily learn how to recognize traffic signals. The red (stop) light is uniformly at the top, with green at the bottom, with the yellow warning signal in between. He will be able to see by the brightness of the light which is on, and tell the color by its position.

Much of your help to the boy will depend on the degree of his trouble — whether he has some or very little color recognition and what colors are involved. The doctor, of course, will assist in determining this.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes nodules to form on the fingers? Does this get worse with time? What can be done to minimize it? They get very tender and sensitive. — Mrs. E.S.

If you mean swelling at the first joint of the fingers, they may be Heberden's nodes, a result of arthritis. There is nothing that can be done about them, but it is comforting to know that after a time they cease being painful, although they still aren't very sightly.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can I use to keep from sunburning, especially near the water? I have used (a certain brand of) suntan lotion but it did no good. — R.B.G.

Some suntan lotions contain expect miracles. Such lotions special materials to screen out ultra-violet rays and thus protect against burning. Other lotions are intended mostly to let you "cook" to an even tan. Therefore check the labels of various brands to find those which have this screening effect. But if you have an unusually tender skin, don't can help, but you still have to avoid overexposure until you have gradually built up a protective tan.

White Suburbs Arming

Sales of Guns Skyrocketing Around Scenes of Rioting

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gun sales have soared in predominantly white suburbs of Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City since looting and violence erupted in the Negro neighborhoods of those cities this month.

Rioting that followed the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on April 4 marked the first major racial disorders in any of the three cities in recent years.

In contrast, there was little if any increase in gun sales in the suburbs of two cities which experienced rioting in previous years as well as this month. Only one dealer in two suburbs adjacent to Chicago's West Side, scene of a 1966 riot, reported an increase in sales. And there was no evidence of an increase in Detroit's suburbs, where gun sales went up sharply during the 1967 riot.

Rates Banned

When trouble broke out in Washington, gun sales were banned in the city and in its Maryland suburbs.

Sales were permitted in suburban Virginia, however, and in Alexandria long lines of suburbanites formed outside gun shops.

Alexandria police said in the first two weeks in April they received 400 applications for permits to possess handguns—more than they had during the entire month of March.

Although purchases were barred in the Maryland suburbs of both Washington and Baltimore during the disorders, many dealers forwarded applications for handgun permits to police for processing. The ban was lifted last Sunday.

Karl Zinkhan, deputy chief of the Baltimore County police, said the number of requests was the highest his department has received since 1966 when the law requiring permits was passed.

Mostly Handguns
"We don't like to see so many handguns going out," Zinkhan said, "but, we're reasonably sure they are going into the hands of responsible citizens."

Lt. Robert Morris, head of the firearms section of the Maryland State Police, said he expects April sales of all types of guns to be substantially higher than sales in March.

"Most of them are going to homeowners and business people," Morris said. "It's a natural reaction. We had the same thing last summer after the trouble in Newark and Detroit."

Gun dealers in Overland Park, Kan., a suburb of Kansas City, reported a spurt in sales as soon as a ban on them was lifted.

In Independence, Mo., another Kansas City suburb, 40 people were lined up at one gun shop when the ban went into effect.

Edward Breitt, owner of a gun shop in Oak Park, Ill., a town adjacent to Chicago's West Side, said his business was up substantially.

"Mostly handguns. Not rifles or shotguns," he said.

U.N. Argues Rhodesia Status

By WILLIAM N. OTATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council planned to start debate today on a resolution calling upon all countries to "sever immediately all economic and other relations" with Rhodesia's rebel white-minority regime.

Ethiopian Ambassador Endalkachew Makonnen was scheduled to introduce it formally to the 15-nation council on behalf of Ethiopia, Algeria, Senegal, India and Pakistan.

The resolution would censure Portugal and South Africa for "assistance to the illegal racist minority regime" and demand "resolute and effective action" if they kept it up.

It would urge Britain to "take all necessary measures including the use of force to bring an end to the rebellion" in Rhodesia that began Nov. 11, 1965, when Prime Minister Ian Smith declared the colony independent.

Economic Pressure

But Britain prefers economic pressure against the Rhodesian regime and has refused repeatedly to resort to force. So informed diplomats predicted that the sponsors of the resolution

Former Greek Premier Smuggles Statement Despite House Arrest

ATHENS (AP) — Former Premier George Papandreou defied house arrest Wednesday and smuggled out an appeal for international political and economic isolation of Greece's military dictatorship.

The statement from the 80-year-old leftist leader said "solidarity and support" from nations of the "free world" would lead to the immediate overthrow of the junta that seized power in a coup April 26, 1967.

Papandreou and ex-Premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos were placed under house arrest Monday in an attempt to prevent them from issuing statements in connection with the first anniversary of the coup.

But Papandreou foiled the guards around his house and managed to smuggle out a long and defiant statement that was distributed by his followers.

He accused the regime of abolishing freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of assembly. He said the coup leaders have so far failed to justify their claim that a Communist revolution was to be launched during the elections that had been scheduled for May 28, 1967, elections which Papandreou's Center Union had been expected to win.

"The Communist danger was manufactured and the coup undertaken only to prevent our electoral victory," Papandreou said.

The political veteran said his appeal was issued "in the name of the enslaved Greek people whom we represent."

"We had hoped, after the Second World War, that fascism had been definitely crushed and that it would not be able to make its appearance again, at least not in Europe," the statement said. "It is to our shame that its first reappearance should have taken place in our country, Greece, the cradle of democracy."

Papandreou was premier from February 1964 to July 1965. He was forced out by King Constantine in a struggle over control of the armed forces. The old man was held under house arrest from the coup until last October.

Canellopoulos, leader of Greece's biggest conservative party, was the caretaker premier in charge of the election preparations at the time of the coup.

New Vaccine Developed for Mothers-to-be

Protection Against German Measles Not Yet Given FDA Okay

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A scientist says mothers of child bearing age may be able to get protection within a year against the birth damaging defects of German measles. The next epidemic of the disease is due about 1970.

That was a report on a new live virus vaccine against German measles given today by Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research at West Point, Pa.

Hilleman said large scale tests are already under way in the United States and that by the end of the year up to 20,000 children in five different areas would receive this experimental vaccine. Tests of other vaccines will cover another 20,000 children.

The virologist said the vaccine successfully passed pilot tests with mothers and children in two suburban Philadelphia communities.

Hilleman couldn't say how many people would have to be given the vaccine before the Federal Food and Drug Administration ruled on its safety and effectiveness.

In the case of ordinary measles vaccine 10,000 were tested, and in mumps only 5,200.

At least three other vaccines using different strains of the virus are undergoing tests in the United States and abroad. The manufacturers also hope to get them on the market within the year.

German measles is a relatively mild disease that strikes mostly children and young adults. Until recently there seemed to be no need to prevent it but now doctors have proven that it causes serious congenital defects in children whose mothers were infected in the first trimester of pregnancy.

Stamp to be Shown at Marquette University

WASHINGTON (AP)—The design of the 6-cent Father Jacques Marquette commemorative postage stamp will be unveiled April 19 at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis.

Lawrence S. Lewin, an aide to Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, will represent the Post Office Department.

The stamp will be officially issued Sept. 20, at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., said Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. He noted that it was at Sault Ste. Marie that the French explorer-priest founded the first permanent settlement in what is now Michigan 300 years ago.

FBI Charges Eric Galt With Murder of King

a week ago. Agents even contacted persons named Galt in several states in an attempt to find him.

The picture—which had to have the eyes "opened" by an artist—brought uncertain responses from witnesses who were acquainted with Galt or saw the fleeing sniper.

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, who lives at the Main Street rooming house from which the fatal shot apparently was fired.

The hair is too full and the face is too young," he said. But Stevens said he only got a side view of the fleeing figure.

A source in Birmingham said the photograph was taken within the past three months, although the FBI did not specify when it was made. The photo has sharp contrast, making hair and features very dark.

'Not Sure'

"It's very near, but I'm not sure," was the reaction of Peter Cherpes, owner of a Birmingham boarding house where an Eric Galt stayed from Aug. 26 to Oct. 7 last year.

"I don't really know," Cherpes said. "It's so hard to tell. His hair seemed to be light."

The FBI, relying on witnesses apparently, said the fugitive had been described as a white black business suit, neatly man, 5-8 to 5-11, weighing 160 to 175 pounds, with brown hair in a brush cut, blue eyes, straight nose.

Persons who have met Galt, the FBI reported, described him as a loner with a "rural" day night he was certain the speech and little schooling, fond of vodka, beer and hillbilly music.

The FBI statement also said,

'Armed, Dangerous'
"Galt should be considered armed and dangerous," the FBI release warned.

Galt has used the names of John Willard and Harvey Lowmeyer, the FBI said. The assassin registered at the Memphis rooming house under the name of John Willard.

Details of the alleged conspiracy were missing from the FBI release, as were vital statistics, such as Galt's birthplace, formal schooling, employment. The statement said Galt claimed to have been a cook on Mississippi riverboats, a merchant seaman and "is said to be an avid dancer."

Galt, the FBI said, is the owner of a 1966 white Mustang with Alabama license plates abandoned in Atlanta the day after King was shot to death. The vehicle was left in the parking lot of an apartment project near the Georgia Capitol.

Seen by Witness

Two white Mustangs were parked near the rooming house shortly before the shooting, witnesses have said, and both disappeared minutes later. Some witnesses told of a man in a white black business suit, neatly dressed, walking down the steps to the street, dropping a rifle and getting into a Mustang with either Alabama or Arkansas tags.

A businessman said Wednesday night he was certain the Mustang parked farthest from the shooting scene had an Arkansas tag. "I'm clear in my own mind," he said.

Barrel Racing Clinic May 5 At Manawa

MANAWA — The Rodeo City Riders Club is sponsoring a barrel racing clinic and jackpot races beginning 12:30 p.m. May 5 at the Manawa Rodeo Arena.

The barrel racing clinic of the Wisconsin Girls Barrel Racing Association will provide instruction in selecting a barrel horse; feeding and starting a colt; grooming and conditioning; shoeing and foot care; display of special equipment; wrapping legs and hauling; and first aid.

The races, which will be open to all area horsemen, will include three barrel races, two pole bending classes, and a flag race.

man race here that the Kennedys could forget about McCarthy. In effect, they told Ted Kennedy: We'll take care of McCarthy for you if you bypass Indiana.

Despite this advice, the decision to enter Indiana was concurred in by all key Kennedy advisors. A private poll by John Kraft did show Kennedy only a short distance behind Branigin, but this was not the reason for disregarding the counsel of their Hoosier friends.

Rather, the Indiana gamble typifies the audacity with which the Kennedys have always played politics and exactly duplicates the gamble taken by John F. Kennedy in West Virginia in 1960. By running in a state where the cards seem all stacked against him, Bobby Kennedy risks disaster in search of a win that might start the bandwagon moving.

Transforming Branigin from stand-in for President Johnson to favorite son candidate has made no essential change in this strategy. Rather, Kennedy men claim that Branigin, as favorite son is more formidable than as LBJ stand-in (an unprovable contention which some Hoosier politicians believe exactly contrary to the facts).

The psychological warfare campaign began the first week of April when Kennedy operative Pierre Salinger told local newsmen how difficult it would be for Kennedy to beat Branigin. Ted Sorensen, a member of the Kennedy high command, went a step further last week by telling Indiana reporters that Kennedy's real goal was only to come in second here ahead of McCaathy, so formidable is Branigin. In private, of course, Kennedy advisors concede that they must win here to be nominated.

This exaggeration of the difficulties Kennedy faces in Indiana are, unwittingly, reinforced by pro-Branigin politicians accustomed to the organization getting what it wants. They simply cannot conceive of a Kennedy win. With one of the last statewide patronage systems giving an incumbent governor iron control over the state party, all but five of 92 county chairmen (many of them state employees) have announced for Branigin.

Besides this, State Chairman Gordon St. Angelo is one of the nation's rising young political technicians and has introduced computer techniques to Hoosier politics. Branigin's campaign will not be the slapdash, jerry-built effort put on for President Johnson in Wisconsin.

But neither technical proficiency nor Kennedy's unpopularity in rural areas of this conservative state justifies the underdog spread by Salinger and Sorensen. Many of the regular precinct committeemen are immersed in factional disputes in the May 7 primary and have little interest in Presidential politics. Moreover, St. Angelo promises he will not tap the huge war chest (raised partly by two per cent salary checkoffs from state employees) reserved for electing a Democratic governor in November.

Besides, Kennedy is now building an organization here from the bottom up under the direction of Lawrence F. O'Brien, with paid non-Hoosier coordinators in each Congressional district. Nobody but Kennedy has both the money and expertise to put this together so quickly. Finally, Branigin, a witty and toughly independent man who gives Hoosiers the conservative-style government they want, may not be fitted for Presidential politics. His charming distaste for mass media was shown last week when, incredibly, he turned down repeated requests by CBS for a TV interview. More important, he must counter Kennedy's charges that he is not a real candidate for President by making the point his victory would give Indiana bargaining power at Chicago.

pend less on organization than on old-fashioned Hoosier chauvinism — support for a native son against a high-spending outsider.

Similarly, Kennedy's counter-argument that this will not be the small fortune to be spent here for television and organization ($750,000 is a good guess) but his strongly emotional support among lower-income Democrats, both white and black. We tested this Kennedy support, accompanied by a pollster of the Oliver Quayle organization, and will report the surprising results in a second column.

Waupaca Joins Shawano for Health Center

Provide Care, Treatment for Mental Illness

WAUPACA — A proposal to join with Shawano County in the operation of a mental health center was approved Wednesday by the Waupaca County board of supervisors.

The center, which is now located in Shawano, will provide mental health services for residents in both Waupaca and Shawano counties. Final approval will be acted upon at the board's August session when all details of the joint project have been worked out.

Supv. Woodrow Smith, Clintonville, who headed a committee to study the proposal, said the clinic will be named Wolf River Mental Health Center and gave a brief outline of the proposed budget for the center.

Present Center

At the present time the center is being operated with a staff of three full-time workers and three part-time workers. When Waupaca County joins the center, the staff will be doubled.

A budget of $108,158 will be required to operate the center. Of this amount the state will contribute approximately 40 per cent and the cost to Waupaca County will be $29,797.

Preliminary plans call for the center to be governed by a 10-member board with five from each county. The five members from Waupaca will be appointed Carradine will recreate some of his most famous roles in a dramatic program ranging from Biblical scriptures through Lincoln speeches to humorous excerpts from "Alice in Wonderland." Best known for his Shakespeare repertoire, he will also read from 12 of the Bard's plays.

Carradine has been featured in numerous films and Broadway productions. He is appearing in Green Bay under the sponsorship of the University of Wisconsin Green Bay campus fine arts and lecture committee.

Conservation Warden To be Guest for KC Fisherman's Party

KAUKAUNA — Dale Morey, Outagamie County game warden, will present a program for the annual fisherman's party of the Knights of Columbus at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Hunting and fishing prizes will be awarded and a fish lunch will be served by John Bloch and his committee. Plans also will be discussed for the May Ball which has been set for May 11.

by county board chairman Carl E. Sturm.

Until this time, Smith explained, Waupaca County was one of the few counties of the state that did not offer mental health center services to its residents.

Reference Needed

Persons receiving the services of the center must be referred to the center by a doctor, clergyman or welfare department, Smith explained. Early attention to mental problems could avert the need for treatment at the Winnebago State Hospital where it now costs the county $600 per month to maintain one patient, he said.

Once the clinic is established on a two-county basis, arrangements might be made to have one of the professional staff members live in Waupaca County and at some future date arrangements be made to have one of the staff members hold office hours in Waupaca, it was explained.

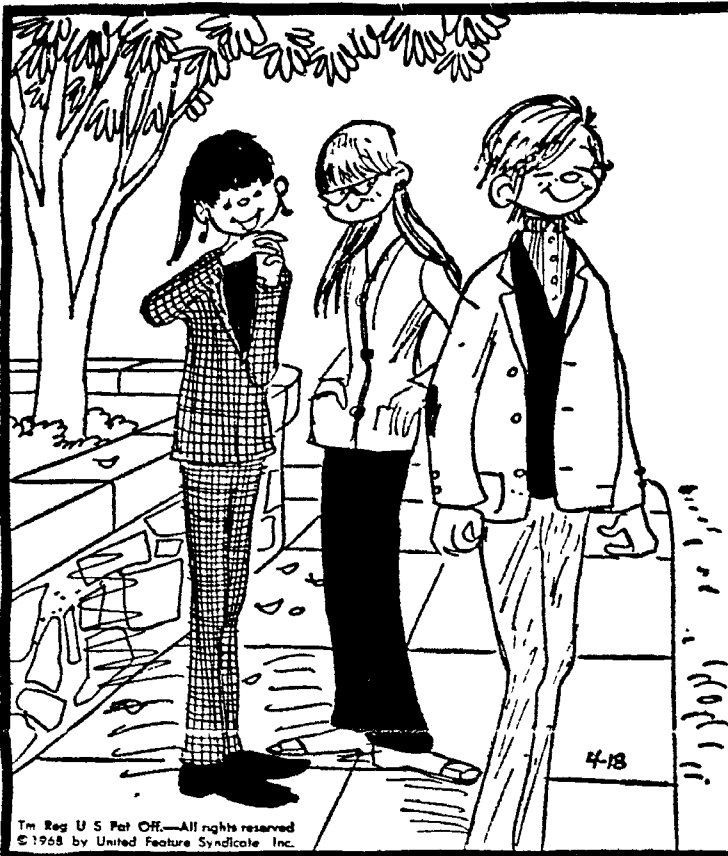

While presenting the proposed program to the board, Smith said he had never worked on a project that had as much public support as this one. "I have received dozens of telephone calls favoring the center and have also been contacted by many individuals," he said.

Hearing Today On Appleton Pipeline Plan

State Official Says Meeting Will 'Allay Fears of Others'

An "informational hearing" on Appleton's proposed $42 million Lake Winnebago water pipeline project was to be held at the city hall this afternoon.

It was called by Freeman Holmer, Madison, administrator of the State Department of Resources.

Holmer informed city officials, who had balked at calling such a hearing themselves, that the session would serve to "allay the fears" of others in nearby communities.

Format Defined

However, Holmer and City Atty. David Geenen agreed the hearing would be conducted strictly along lines of a question-and-answer session with "no statements or speeches."

A representative of the U. S. Corps of Engineers from Chicago indicated he would be in attendance.

The city made arrangements for engineers from two Chicago consulting firms and others close to the expansion program to be on hand.

Project Opposed

Opposition to the project has come from some Appleton and Neenah residents, and others in Calumet County.

Holmer informed officials he was meeting this morning with Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission.

Bubolz reportedly made contacts with the state agency and wrote letters urging the hearing be held.

Holmer admitted his department had no legal authority to call a hearing, but felt it would be a good public relations gesture to answer questions of anyone having doubts on how the project would proceed.

Appleton Officials

Geenen said this morning Appleton officials would insist the information hearing "be just that."

"There is no reason why Appleton should be subjected to continual harassment of this project, which has been approved by the necessary local, regional and state agencies," one official declared.

The federal government has given Appleton a $15 million grant to offset the cost of the project.

Cash Payments Possible Interstate Education Pacts Show Imbalance

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Wisconsin may seek cash payments to offset advantages granted neighboring states in interstate compacts for the exchange of higher educational students, according to Angus Rothwell, director of the Wisconsin Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

Rothwell has reported to Gov. Warren P. Knowles' education cabinet that not only is Wisconsin this year running behind Michigan in gains from an interstate compact, but prospects are for a similar state lag in such an exchange with Minnesota.

At present, Rothwell told the educational agency heads of the state, Minnesota sends about 1,600 students a year into Wisconsin's higher educational institutions, while about 800 Wisconsin students study yearly in Minnesota schools.

Compact Approved
A Minnesota-Wisconsin compact was approved in concept by the 1967 Wisconsin Legislature.

"If there is a bilateral arrangement, it will be fair to both states," said Rothwell to the cabinet.

Does that mean that Wisconsin will seek cash payments if the student exchanges do not balance out, asked Wayne McGown, secretary of the Department of Administration and head of the state's budgeting forces.

"We'd certainly have to seek out some such sort of balance," Rothwell agreed, if the imbalance continues.

Under the terms of the agreements, students are allowed to cross state boundaries and study at selected colleges and universities at normal in-state tuition rates, rather than paying generally far higher non-resident tuition charges.

The exchange compacts do not do away with out-of-state tuition charges for students from other areas of the country not involved in the agreements, or from other areas of the affected states if the agreements are limited to particular counties as is the Wisconsin-Michigan compact.

Not Involved

Both two and four year institutions are involved. Rothwell also reported that Illinois has spurred efforts to date to discuss with Wisconsin officials such an agreement. Illinois is primarily interested in such a mutual agreement with Iowa, Rothwell told Knowles.

Northern Illinois students traditionally flock into Wisconsin to fill Southern Wisconsin colleges and universities.

Rothwell said that Illinois now plans to develop a two year center in the northeastern corner of that state to serve between 5,000 and 10,000 students. This development will affect that migration rate, he said.

And it will probably have a sizable impact on the already-crowded Wisconsin State University-Whitewater campus and the planned University of Wisconsin-Parkside campus in Kenosha County, he stated.

Ever Been Wrong About Anything?

BY TV SCOUT

8-8:30 — Channels 11-9 — That Girl has a very funny episode with Sid Caesar playing a famous comic who drinks and drinks and drinks. After he selects Mario Thomas to appear in a commercial with him, she finds him getting loud in a bar. To prevent the police from being called, she helps him home. Only he is so drunk he doesn't know where home is, so he winds up at her place, talking about suicide and passing out, and awaking the next morning with a very mistaken idea about what went on the night before. (C)

6:30-7:30 — Channel 5 — The NBC Children's Theatre presents "The Enormous Egg," a tale of a young boy from Freedom, N.H., whose pet hen, Henrietta, hatches a gigantic egg from which comes a triceratops dinosaur. As winter approaches, the boy and the dino, now gigantic and named Uncle Beazley, go to Washington for residence at the Smithsonian and later at the zoo, where Congress gets into the act and opens debate on whether or not the country should be rid of the monster. Ed McMahon does a very good job narrating (the program is all narration except for the climax) and he is also seen as the pompous senator who starts the trouble. Frank Blair plays himself, Douglas Tucker is very appealing as the show's young hero. (C)

6:30-8 — Channels 2-7 — Cimarron Strip has a good episode with Joseph Cotton giving

Green Bay Packer quarterback Bart Starr has a new role as an actor. Here he works in Miami, Fla., with actor Dennis Weaver on a scene in one of the "Gentle Ben" television series. The segment is featuring Starr because it concerns football. It will be aired in the fall to coincide with the Packers' opening game.

ing a good performance as an alcoholic fraud of a doctor who uses a machine to "heal." Another good performance is that of L. O. Jones, who has his best role as a rag-picker who talks to himself and wants a statue built to him. (C)

7:30-8 — Channels 11-9 — Bewitched has an amusing episode in which Marion Lorne once again gets her spells misspelled and conjures up a flying saucer on the Stephen's patio. The saucer is from Parenthia and the two inhabitants, Alpha and Orvis, are so glad the people from this strange place also speak "Parenthian." (C)

7:30-8:30 — Channel 5 — Ironside refuses to believe that a popular folk singer jumped to her death from the Golden Gate Bridge, because she had written him a letter of encouragement after he was shot. So he heads for the Psychedelic Daffodil, where the girl was about to play an engagement and finds plenty of suspects, including Guy Stockwell, Michael Constantine and Barbara Rhoades. (C)

8:30-9 — Channel 5 — Dragnet 1968 takes a light-hearted look at the home life of a policeman. Harry Morgan invites Jack Webb home for dinner and a football game on TV. But there are constant interruptions from neighbors who want help with traffic tickets or want a spouse arrested or want protections from a prowler. (C)

9-10 — Channel 5 — Stay tuned all the way through The Dean Martin Show for an hilarious climax in which Dean and guests Jonathan Winters, Donald O'Connor and Nancy Ames do a series of vignettes of familiar scenes from movies. It's a bright show with Winters also playing an ear-bending airline passenger and Flip Wilson telling his version of Columbus' discovery of America. (C)

Bewildered Viewer of Oscar Show Has Query

Fair Question Demands Answer, So Here's Rundown on 'What They Do'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "We saw that parade of winners at the Academy Awards," writes a bewildered viewer. "What do they do?"

A fair question. The Academy often takes for granted that the viewing public will know what an art director or cinematographer does. As a matter of cold fact, most movie-goers haven't the foggiest notion of the nature of the work contributed by the names that are thrown on the screen at the beginning and end of pictures.

Okay, then, here is a guide to movie credits:

Producer Overseer

Producer—The man who oversees the entire film. He acquires the story; hires the writer, director, actors, etc.; approves the sets and costumes; arranges for studio space and locations; oversees publicity and advertising. Nowadays he often raises the money for the film, and many of today's producers are deal-makers rather than creative film makers.

Director—The man who determines what goes on the film. He chooses the camera angles and tells the actors what to do. The best directors also work with the writer on the script and perform many of the functions of the producer. In fact, some are producer-directors.

Associate producer—He is the producer's aide, sometimes a creative contributor to the project, sometimes little more than a yes-man.

Assistant director—He does the preliminary work for the director in arranging crowds, summoning actors, calling for quiet and otherwise speeding production along.

Writer — He adapts books, plays or other works to script form, or works from his own story. Rarely does his script appear the way he wrote it; usually it reflects contributions by other writers, the director, producer or even the actors.

Cinematographer—A fancy word for cameraman. Actually the head cameraman seldom touches the camera; he approves camera angles and supervises the lighting.

Art director—He plans and designs the look of the picture—drawing the sets, choosing colors, etc.

Set decorator—He carries out the art director's designs, providing the furniture and other props.

Film editor—He is responsible for putting the finished film together. He works under the supervision of the director, who determines how the scenes will play. But often the editor performs a creative role, adding pace and excitement to the film. Composer—He writes the score, with consultation of the director or producer. Usually he conducts the orchestra for the recording.

Sound—One sound man is the "mixer," who supervises the recording and makes sure the dialogue is understandable and properly modulated. The "boom man" operates the boom which extends the microphone over the actors' heads.

Makeup—the artist who does the face makeup gets the screen credit. Body makeup is applied by another person.

Costume designer—The function is important in costume pictures, less so in modern stories. In most cases, actors supply their own modern wardrobe.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Looks Back On Life Overshadowed by Violence

By JULES LOH

AP Newsfeatures Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An hour before the funeral of her husband, Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. reclined in her bedroom, alone, for the moment, with her grief.

It had been an exhausting morning for her already.

Her parents had arrived from Alabama and she arose early to greet them. Then there was a raft of last-minute arrangements that required her attention. And there were the inevitable unforeseen minor crises such as when Bernice, her 5-year-old, spilled juice on her crisp white dress and it had to be washed and ironed all over again.

Finally everything was done and Mrs. King went to her room to relax. One final visitor arrived—Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

The former First Lady made her way to the bedroom and spent five minutes with Mrs. King. Afterward Mrs. King said the brief visit had been most comforting.

Obvious Parallel

The obvious parallel in the manner of their husbands' deaths remained unspoken. Neither could have known then how many other parallels would be drawn between the two widows as the day wore on and millions watched on television.

Watching the majesty of Mrs. King's bearing, her unwavering composure during the long day of services, her motherly solicitude and the faultless behavior of her children, it was impossible not to recall the indomitable Jacqueline at the funeral of John F. Kennedy.

For most Americans it was perhaps their first glimpse of the wife of Martin Luther King Jr.

For those who followed her husband's crusades closely, however, she was a familiar figure. Slender and erect, she appeared with him at demonstrations throughout Dixie.

Rarely did she permit herself the informality that characterized King's marches. At Selma her close friends were weeping when she showed up wearing flat-heeled shoes.

Coretta Scott King says that ever since she was a girl in Perry County, Ala., where she was born on April 27, 1927, she has been determined to do something positive in the cause of human rights.

Deep Convictions

The words she spoke when she brought her husband's body to the chapel where it would lay in repose came from deep convictions: "The day that the Negro people and others in bondage are truly free, the day hate is abolished, the day war is no more, on that day I know my husband will rest in a long deserved peace."

Many expect Mrs. King to take a more active role in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which her husband founded.

"In my heart I feel it is God's will for his work to go on," she said in an Easter Sunday talk at the Ebenezer Baptist church where her husband was co-pastor. "Our dedication and concern to the task of continuing his unfinished work will be the greatest tribute to my husband."

Mrs. King met her husband while she was studying voice at the New England Conservatory of Music and he was working toward his Ph.D. at Boston University.

She recalls that on their first date he told her, "You know, you have everything I ever wanted in a woman. We ought to get married someday." A year-and-a-half later they did.

Launches Boycott

They moved to Montgomery, Ala., where he became pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist church and launched the Montgomery bus boycott. With that campaign he began to shape his philosophy of direct social action.

During the boycott Coretta King had her first terrifying brush with violence. A bomb exploded on their front porch and smashed the living room. Nobody was hurt. She and the baby were in the rear of the house; her husband was not at home.

With that experience Mrs. King began to steel herself against the possibility of tragedy.

"We all realize that something could happen," she once said. "If it happens I think it will be the will of God. If it happens, it would be a great way to give oneself to a great cause. But I pray God nothing happens."

Mrs. King's main work with the SCLC, to which she has been named a director, was in organizing fund-raising concerts.

The concerts raised more than $55,000. They combined a lecture, poetry and music that told the history of the rights movement. Mrs. King narrated and sang.

Sings Spirituals

On a trip to India in 1959 with her husband she sang Negro spirituals at the Gandharva Mahavidyalaya Music School in New Delhi. The music critic for The Times of India gave her a praiseworthy review.

Mrs. King has received a number of honors. The National Council of Negro Women gave her its brotherhood award in 1957. The American Jewish Congress cited her for her work for peace and human relations. In 1960 she was a delegate to the White House Conference on Children and Youth. In 1962 she was a member of the Women's Strike for Peace which went to the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, and in 1966 her name was on the Gallup Poll of most admired women.

She says one of her greatest thrills, however, was when her husband won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964.

Lived With Threat

"For the past 10 years," she said at the time, "we have lived with the threat of death always present. I think this award will create a more favorable climate for the civil rights movement."

With her husband's death, Mrs. King finds special comfort in her children, Yolanda, 12, Martin, 10, Dexter, 7, and Bernice, 5.

She often found herself hard put to explain the reason for her husband's frequent jailings to her children. She used to tell them: "Daddy's gone to jail to help the people. They don't have good homes to live in. They don't have enough food. Daddy would like all the people to have these things."

Now, of course, come the childlike questions about death. "Should I hate the man who killed Daddy?" asked Yolanda. "No," replied Mrs. King. "You shouldn't. It's not the Christian way."

Society Invites Public to Attend Fish Auction

KAUKAUNA — A bowl show and fish auction is planned for tonight's 8 p.m. meeting of the Valley Aquarium Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Jansen, 524 Margaret St., Kimberly.

The public is invited to participate by bringing fish and turtles to be entered in the exhibit. Bowls should be labeled with the owner's name, and the type and name of the fish. Guppies, livebearers, bettas, egg-layers, scavengers and miscellaneous, such as turtles and snails, will be the categories featured.

Those entries designated as being for sale will be auctioned off at the close of the meeting by William Pryor, the club's president. In the interest of fun, no prizes or ribbons will be awarded, and refreshments will be served.

Vocations Theme Of Theresian Tea

"What Adult Women Think of the Changing Sister" will be discussed by Mrs. Eldon Herrig of Dubuque, Iowa, at the annual Theresian Tea at 2 p.m. April 28 at Sacred Heart Parish Hall. The event will be sponsored by the Theresians of Appleton, a group of laywomen interested in increasing sisterhood vocations.

Miss Pat De Noble of Xavier High School will speak on "What the High School Girl Thinks of the Sister." Girls in grades 7 through 12 and their mothers have been invited to attend.

Mrs. Lyle Becker will serve as program chairman; Mrs. Richard Hare, publicity; Mrs. Alvin Gloudemans, arrangements; Mrs. James Wise, invitations; Mrs. Clarence Wallace, refreshments, and Mrs. William McClenahan, decorations.

Booth at Fair Planned by GOP Women

The County Federation of Republican Women will participate in the Good Neighbor Fair Saturday at Valley Fair Shopping Center. Named as co-chairmen were Mrs. Toby Roth and Mrs. Edward Koeshner. The group plans to sell miscellaneous items including baked goods, white elephants and plants. Members have been asked to contact the chairmen if they have items to be picked up.

Lawyers' Wives Ready for Special May 1 Observance

Lawyers' Wives of Outagamie County are busy helping with preparations for Law Day, May 1, the 11th observance of the United State's answer to Russia's May Day. The proclamation of Law Day was made by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958.

Mrs. Richard Paulsen is Law Day chairman for the wives' group, and John Kellogg for the attorneys.

Picking up the theme of the day, "Only a Lawful Society Can Build A Better Society," posters have been distributed through the county to stores, schools and libraries. Mrs. David Geenan is chairman of the poster and display committee for the Lawyers' Wives. Working with her are Mrs. Donald Jury, Mrs. Douglas Robertson, Mrs. Joseph Cummings, Mrs. Gerald Lorge, Mrs. Vernon Lubinski, Mrs. Kelland Lathrop, Mrs. Donald Green, Mrs. Gerald Van Hoof, Mrs. Daniel Burns and Mrs. Donald Herrling.

Clergy in the area have been supplied with a hand book, "Religion and the Law."

Working through the schools, the women will conduct tours of the courthouse May 1 for children in intermediate grades.

Helping with the tours will be Mrs. Edward Byrne, Mrs. Walter Brummund, Mrs. Hugh Nelson, Mrs. Alfred Bosser, Mrs. Lester Chudacoff, Mrs. Edgar Becker and Mrs. Samuel Sigman.

High school and junior high school students will take part in a "Rule of Law Quiz" supplied to their classes upon request.

Publicity co-chairmen are Mrs. Wendall Smith and Mrs. Urban VanSusteren.

Mrs. Neil McCarty is chairman of the Law Day Dinner May 1 at Buttes des Morts Golf Club. Special recognition will be given to Heber Pelkey for 50 years of law practice and to Nick Schaefer, new judge of Outagamie County Branch 2.

Sheinwold Kibitzer May Use Advantage

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When the U.S. and Canadian Olympic bridge teams played a long practice match last month, one of the hands dramatically demonstrated the advantage of the kibitzer. You enjoy that advantage today since you can see all four hands.

West led the king of clubs and shifted to a diamond. Robert Jordan, of the U.S. team, won with the ace of diamonds and led his other club.

West took the ace of clubs and led his singleton spade to dummy's ace. Jordan now led the queen of clubs from dummy. East discarded a spade, since a ruff would cost his side a trump trick; and South also discarded a spade.

Declarer led two more high clubs from dummy, discarding more spades when East refused to ruff. Jordan then cashed the king of hearts and led a low heart from dummy, finessing with the ten to West's jack.

West had to return a diamond (he had nothing else), and declarer discarded dummy's losing spade. Jordan easily made the rest, losing only two clubs and one trump.

Speak Up

Now you have your chance to speak up. What went wrong? Or do you approve of everything that went on? Decide for yourself before you read on.

West made a fatal error when he took the ace of clubs at the third trick. He should play low, allowing East to ruff.

East returns a trump, and South cannot get 10 tricks. If South tries to ruff out dummy's clubs, East gets in with a spade and leads another trump.

It's unusual to gain by forcing your partner to ruff and thus waste his trump trick: and maybe that's why the actual West player didn't find the right play. As a kibitzer, however, you should have seen the best defense. Did you?

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S-J 10 9 5 2, H-A 10 3 2, D-A 10, C-8 7. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention. This asks partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards if he has one. If partner does so, you will raise to game. If he bids two diamonds (denying a major suit), you will bid two spades.

Furnish With Objects, Designs That Please You

BY VIVIAN BROWN

NEW YORK (AP) — Top prize-winning interior designers emphasize the importance of living with furniture you like.

In the 10th annual Hexter "Interiors of the Year" award program, winners stressed that objects and design should be pleasing to the eye of the person who must live with them.

Michael de Santis, first prize winner, used contemporary furniture with antique accessories to create an eclectic look in an apartment.

In the living room, white pecky cypress was used along the fireplace wall. There is a dark green velvet sofa, a French pull chair covered in green suede, an Icelandic fur rug. Green crushed velvet is in a niche. The cushion of an X-bench is covered in white patent leather. Oak floors throughout are painted dark green.

Color Scheme
The dining room is painted dark green and the lacquered dining table with steel frame is also dark green. He uses white lacquered dining chairs with green velvet seats.

Paul Krause, second prize winner, turned an 1836 Connecticut country farm house kitchen into a cozy little sitting room. On upholstered pieces, he used the sunshine colors, yellow and white hints, giving the small room a glow against a background of white painted barn siding. He used exterior shutters indoors rather than draperies to "provide another outdoor quality," he says.

Blue and white checked Roman shades provide light control over the 12-over-12 window panes. There are red accents in the room. The floors are painted in a gray and white marbled pattern.

Interior designer Audrey Fiber won an honorable mention for a large house in Long Island that included a dining room and kitchen as part of the enormous living room.

In the living area, a blue and white fabric is used at the sliding glass doors. A large Portuguese blue and white rug is on the floor and there is a coffee table of stainless steel and glass. The floor is rust-colored Mexican tiles. A black vinyl tufted sofa and chairs in mottled brown vinyl are part of a seating setting that includes a comfortable easy chair in blue and white woven fabric.

Kitchen Area

Navy blue and white is the color scheme in the kitchen area where Portuguese tiles adorn the walls. There are

The Living Room of an "afterthought" wing of an 1836 Connecticut country house won second prize for designer, Paul H. Krauss. The floor was painted to simulate marble and an existing collection of country furniture was used. The walls were covered with barn planking and painted white. The color scheme featured light and cheerful blues and yellows with green and red accents.

French furnishings — a farm table, iron ceiling fixture, Louis XIII armoire for dishes, and an old cupboard. A maple chopping block is used for counter tops— especially for guests, she says, who always like to hack away at cooking meals for the hostess. She used Portuguese tiles on risers of the stairs.

Observing what decorators do in certain situations is helpful to non - professionals who can then apply the ideas to their own homes. Even if they seek professional decorating help they should work with color schemes and furnishing styles they would enjoy living with.

'Will I Live Or Die?' Asks Cooley's Anemia Victim

BY AP Newsfeatures
 Scientists work long hours at their microscopes and test tubes to lengthen the life of little Angela M. of Augusta, Ga., while others actually give of their life's blood to keep the 4-year-old child alive.

At last that's true in a manner of speaking, because one can describe Angela as a symbol of the estimated 25,000 children and young adults in the United States who are believed to have the hereditary birth defect of the blood known as thalassemia major or Cooley's anemia.

Vulnerable to Infection
 Victims of thalassemia major tend to die in their first or second decade. Their red blood cells last only one-third to one-half the normal length of time. Up to a point, victims can be kept alive by repeated massive blood transfusions. For example, Angela has received 78 transfusions for a total of 60 pints of blood since her treatment began at the age of 4 months. Other patients have had fresh blood supplied up to 1,000 times. Even so, the young sufferers are vulnerable to infections and often what begins as a mild cold turns into fatal pneumonia.

Angela attends a special kindergarten class conducted by the Medical College of Georgia where she is also a patient at its March of Dimes-supported Birth Defects Center.

Doctors Interrupt Play
 About every two or three weeks, while she is at kindergarten play, the doctors approach with their needles, bottles of blood, bandages and other equipment. Now the pretty luminous-eyed child takes it all in stride, although transfusion time used to mean fears, tantrums and outcries.

Angela's attractive young parents are East Indians who came to Augusta from New Delhi. The father, an Oxford-trained biochemist on the faculty of the medical college, did not learn that both he and his wife were carriers of the lethal disease until she was several months pregnant with Angela. She had previously given birth to two normal children.

Refused Abortion
 When both parents are carriers, the odds are 1 in 4 with each birth that the infant will inherit the disease.

Angela's mother tried to obtain a legal abortion but permission was refused. As it happened, Angela was born with the major defect. She is not only a victim of the disease, but also a carrier. If eventually she marries a non-carrier, all of her children will be carriers of thalassemia major. If she unwittingly marries a carrier, the odds are 1 in 2 at each birth that the child will inherit the disease.

Dolls Get Transfusions
 Dr. Dorothy A. Hahn, co-director of the Augusta birth defects center and an assistant professor of medicine at the college, says that Angela "knows that she is quite different from her normal brother and sister, and she knows that something may happen to her. However, she's a brave child. She is no longer afraid of us doctors in our frightening white coats. She has come along to the point where she even gives blood transfusions to her dolls."

Angela's mother speaks frankly of her child's sometimes disturbing questions:

No Time to Waste
 "Only last week she asked her father, 'Am I going to live or die?' In turn he said, 'Child if you want to live, you will live.' I think that was a beautiful answer, full of wisdom. Angela told her father she very much wished to live."

Dr. Harold Fink, chairman of the laboratory services of Coney Island Hospital, New York City, and a leading authority on thalassemia, says:

"Research is proceeding in several directions. Today we bring along some of these patients into their 30s. This was not possible a few years ago. In another 10 to 25 years, who knows? By transplanting hemoglobin-producing bone marrow, perhaps by other techniques now only hypothetical, we might just be able to grant Angela's wish for life. But let no one think we have time to waste."

Daughter Born To Wife of Keith Hyland

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Lisa Hyland, American wife of a rich Australian captive of the Viet Cong, has given birth to a daughter, Larissa.

"I am sure my husband is alive and the Viet Cong will release him," said Mrs. Hyland, 28, who flew to Australia to have her baby after the guerrillas captured her 54-year-old husband, Keith Hyland, during the lunar new year offensive in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese quarter.

Hyland, known as the "feather king of Vietnam," made a fortune from his duck feather down factory in Cholon.

Mrs. Hyland, the former Dorothy Lisa Ludlow, was born in Mt. Kisco, N.Y., and grew up in Larchmont. She was a model in Australia before going to Saigon.

Golf League Sets First Meeting Date

Legal Secretaries Prepare For State Convention

Members of the Wisconsin Association of Legal Secretaries will gather April 26-27 at the Holiday Inn, Oshkosh, for their first annual convention. The Wisconsin association was organized last November at a meeting in Milwaukee.

The event will open with a get-acquainted party at 8:30 p.m. April 26. Also scheduled at this time is a state board meeting. A general assembly and state association business meeting is planned for Saturday morning. Miss Oshkosh, Miss Carol Bue-low, will be a luncheon guest and will model in the style show to be presented after luncheon. Her mother, Mrs. Marilyn Bue-low, is treasurer of the Winnebago County chapter.

The afternoon session will include a workshop on the professional legal secretary course of study and examination.

The convention will close with cocktails and a banquet. Featured speaker will be E. Harold Hallows, chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court. The concert choir of Oshkosh High School will present a program of light music.

Figure Assists

Teens have their share of figure problems, and they are not as trifling as some grown-ups make them out to be. A girl-on-the-grow does not automatically overcome a weight problem of either the too-heavy or too-thin variety.

In solving problems, a long range diet and exercise program is basic. An educated choice of bras and girdles goes far to improve appearances.

The mold and carriage of the figure, too.

Via your underpinnings it is even possible to camouflage spot difficulties. Like so:

—A straight-up-and-down figure takes on gentle, natural looking curves when you wear a contour bra and a girdle with a nipping waist band.

—A slender bosomline also responds to contour bras.

—To smooth a knit, wear a seamless-cup bra.

—You can take an inch or two off your waistline with a "cincher." There will be more of them around as more belted fashions make the scene. Your mother doubtless wore a cincher; they aren't new, but reappear when small bits of corsetry are wanted to snug the waist.

—Nothing like a firm front panel in a girdle to flatten the tummy.

—Your derriere is diminished by a downstretch back panel or elastic self-reinforcement. It gains curve by contour shaping.

—Only a long-legged pantie girdle trims the thigh and, of course, it is not workable with mini skirts. Your best bet becomes dark pantie hose, now available with more control at the top.

For a more attractive bosom, write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, requesting her pamphlet, Enhanced Bosomline. Include 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Pamphlet contains detailed instructions on how curve and lift can be improved through exercise, posture and corsetry.

Y Auxiliary to Sponsor 'White House' Luncheon

Mrs. Mabel McClanahan, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Inc., and member of Valley Business and Professional Women's Club, will relate her recent experiences at the White House at a luncheon sponsored by the Appleton Family Y Auxiliary at 1 p.m. May 2 in the Y's El Lugar room.

Women of the community, the Y and the auxiliary are invited to attend the event which is being planned under the direction of Mrs. John Peckham, assisted by Mrs. James Mohr.

Making arrangements for decorations are Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Robert Gordon, co-chairmen, and Mrs. Eugene Sowers and Mrs. Gerald Hoffman, committee members.

Volunteer Service Group

The luncheon combined with a style show, several coffee hours and a dessert meeting comprises the bulk of the auxiliary's schedule of formal events. Modeled after a Y auxiliary in Des Plaines, Ill., Appleton's Y auxiliary — the first in Wisconsin — was organized in June, 1963, for the purpose of assisting the Y through volunteer service.

In the five years since its founding, the auxiliary has contributed more than 16,000 hours that have included assisting with fund and membership drives, assembling kits, serving as hostesses and receptionists, performing secretarial duties and acting as swimming instructors and lifeguards.

In April, 1967, the Appleton auxiliary sponsored the first workshop for Y auxiliaries. The event was attended by more than 100 women from Illinois and Wisconsin.

Fashioning Paper Flowers for the Y Auxiliary's May 2 luncheon is Mrs. Robert Gordon, decorations co-chairman, who has the undivided attention of other members, Mrs. John Peckham, general chairman; Mrs. Eugene Sowers, Mrs. Gerald Hoffman and Mrs. Allen Gray, co-chairman of the decorations committee. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Committee Decides Not To Expell Barnard Coed

NEW YORK (AP) — A Barnard College committee has recommended that Linda LeClair, 20, lose several campus privileges but not be expelled over her admitted breaking of college rules to live off campus with her boyfriend.

"I sort of expected them to come up with something sensible," Miss LeClair commented with a smile after learning the decision. "After all, they're sensible people."

Wearing a bright orange shift, she read the decision to a crowd of about 100 sympathetic students in Barnard Hall. Laughter and cries of "beautiful!" and "terrific!" accompanied the reading.

Deliberated Five Hours

The panel of five students, two teachers and two administrators deliberated five hours Wednesday before writing a letter of reprimand to Miss LeClair.

They also recommended she be denied the use of the snack bar, cafeteria and recreation room and be barred from college and dormitory social functions.

The recommendations now go to college President Martha Peterson who has final authority in the case. Her decision is not expected for more than a week.

The panel also said the housing rules should get "a thorough revision ... with a view to eliminating any suggestion of discriminatory practice or infringement of basic human rights."

During a two day trial before the panel Miss LeClair, daughter of a Hudson, N.H., banker, termed the housing rules "an infringement of our basic individual freedom."

"I'm old enough by law to live anywhere and with anyone without my parents' permission," she testified.

'Ludicrous Punishment'

Her boyfriend, Peter Behr, 20, a Columbia University junior, sat beside her during the proceedings. They share a $100-a-month two room apartment.

"I think it's the beginning of a re-evaluation of these regulations and a more individual freedom at Barnard," he commented after the announcement.

"I think it's a ludicrous punishment, but I'm just glad she hasn't been suspended," said Deborah Dixon, a Barnard student. "In class yesterday we were reading about Victorian morals."

"If you see what they allow men to get away with and what they allow women to get away with, you find that the double standard still exists today."

Italians Dip Into History For Strong 1930s Revival

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — It of a buckle were faithfully re-ally's designers appeared to have spent hours poring over their fashion history books in preparation for their boutique shows in the Pitti Palace Wednesday.

The models swayed down the runway costumed like a crowd of extras from the movies of 30 years ago.

In their clinging crepe gowns, white fox furs and platinum blonde wigs, they might have been so many stand-ins for Ginger Rogers, Veronica Lake and all the other movie queens of yesteryear. Even such details as the tilt of a hat or the shape of a buckle were faithfully reproduced. Billy Ballo's collection was the '30s through and through—gray squirrel clutch coats worn over draped-bodice dresses in soft printed silks. Sleeves were set in with the raised shoulders that women used to wear if only to keep their long-strapped handbags from slipping off the shoulder. Billy Ballo brought these shoulder bags back again along with ladylike gray suede gloves. Sinuous gowns in silver lame were seductive on the evening scene.

Less vamp but more wearable were Eguzquiza's simple V-neck jumpers with a row of bride's buttons running down the front. With them were turtleneck shirts in white nun's veiling with jewel buttoned cuffs.

Valditevere chose rust and indigo for handsome handwoven fabrics fashioned into lovely layabout clothes that were perfect for a leisurely weekend—tweed jump suits, tunics baled over maxiskirts or those new calf-length pants that have cropped up continually at these Italian showings.

Gray and white with a flash of flag red starred at Ferragamo. Herringbone tweed coats were fitted well into the waist and fluted below the waist in back. Big highwayman collars were splayed wide and piped in red flannel.

Furry Orlon

If a fabric looks and feels like woolen chinchilla, it "ain't necessarily so." It may be made of knitted Orlon with a cotton back. This produces a soft, furry material which is completely machine-washable.

Girl Plagued by Fear of Death Advised to See Psychiatrist

BY ANN LANDERS
One else because they'd think I was insane. What bothers me is that they would probably be your help. I couldn't possibly right discuss this problem with any- I have such an intense fear of doing that it is driving me bugs When I read the obituaries in the newspaper I get panicky and start to shake, even though the people who died are strangers. A few months ago a friend of mine lost her sweetheart in a car accident. She was not a close friend and I hadn't seen the boy more than two or three times. Yet I took his death harder than she did. I couldn't eat or think straight for weeks. She was dating again before I was able to get a good night's sleep.

I keep imagining that I have all sorts of fatal diseases although I have never been seriously ill. I am afraid of doctors and always have been.

Please don't suggest a psychiatrist. I can't afford one. Can you help me? — S.O.S.

Dear S.O.S.: If you had a severe toothache would you ask me not to suggest that you go to a dentist? You need psychiatric help and I am telling you to get it.

Your preoccupation with death may be related to a childhood fear which has nothing to do with death. You must get the chinkers out of your head and you need help to do it. Almost every city has mental health facilities which are free or extremely reasonable. Some of these clinics have waiting lists and others are actively looking for patients. Write to the Headquarters of the National Association for Mental Health, 10 Columbus Circle, New York City, N.Y.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a very restless sleeper. Kermit thrashes around all night and keeps me up. But that's not the worst of it. Lately he has been clipping me on the chin, banging me in the mouth and this morning I have a black eye from where his elbow caught me.

I told Kermit we must get twin beds and he says we can't

Lecture Series Scheduled At UWFVC

"Economic Development — A World Challenge" will be the topic of a five-week lecture series scheduled Mondays from 1:30-3 p.m. at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center. The sessions will run from Monday through May 20. Lecturer will be Inderjit J. Singh from the department of economics, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

In addition to discussing the problems of India, China and Asia, Mr. Singh will analyze the experience of Japan, USSR, Yugoslavia and Mexico.

Persons interested in registering for the series may contact the Extension Office at Fox Valley Center.

afford new furniture right now. What would you think about me putting up a board between us — until we can afford the twin beds? Does it make sense? — Black And Blue

Dear B & B: Yes, it does. Maybe after Kermit bangs his head on the board a few dozen times he'll learn to sleep like a gentleman. P.S. Has it occurred to you that he may be doing things "in his sleep" that he hasn't the nerve to do when he is awake? He may need professional help.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It all started as a joke, but it isn't funny any more. A boy in my class took my wristwatch as a gag. I removed it when I put on some hand cream. I saw him take the watch off my desk and he knows I saw him because he said, "This will cost you $10 to get back."

Two days have passed and now he says he hasn't got my watch. What shall I do? — Timeless

Dear Timeless: Tell him the joke is over and to return your watch at once or you will report it to the teacher as "stolen" — along with details.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Outagamie Board Has Placid Session; Okays ILS System Purchase

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What has been expected to be a controversial organizational session of the Outagamie County Board this week proved to be relatively routine as supervisors apparently decided to hold off on some of the major items facing the board until the newly constituted committees begin functioning.

The board Wednesday did approve the airport committee's recommendation on the purchase of an instrument landing system (ILS) for the airport and a request from the parks and recreation committee for condemnation authority, but did not take up the issue of jail remodeling. Three other resolutions were held over for another month.

The ILS contract will be awarded to Airborne Instrument Laboratory, for a price which apparently will not be known until payment is made.

The firm and county had reached agreement on a price of $84,000 after a session of reverse auction bidding with Wilcox Electric Co. However, County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler said he had received a telegram Tuesday from Wilcox offering to further reduce their bid by $2,500.

No Idea

The reduced figure was put in the agreement for Airborne, but supervisors admitted they had no idea if Airborne would lower its price.

Supv. John Dietz, of the Airport Committee, decried the "Chinese auction" aspects the bidding had taken. He said he was in favor of saving money for the county, but that he also wanted to save the county's reputation.

Narcotics Traffic Grows, Police Say

Appleton police and state authorities believe there is narcotics traffic in this area but are not sure to what extent, it was learned Wednesday night.

The disclosure came after the city council authorized two members of the police department to attend a Federal Bureau of Narcotics seminar at Glendale, a Milwaukee suburb, May 8-10.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said his department has been getting complaints over the possible use of narcotics.

"We have made some arrests and were unsuccessful in getting

Miss Draheim Requests Passage Council Cool to Housing Ordinance

The Appleton City Council was requested by a freshman alderman Wednesday night to adopt a model fair housing ordinance.

The move by Miss Dorothy Draheim (14th), the only woman on the 20-member council, wasn't a surprise.

After her recent election, Miss Draheim reportedly said one of her first actions would be to push for an opening housing law here.

Kaukauna is the only city in the Fox Valley with such an ordinance, having adopted it without controversy or fanfare several months ago.

Brief Speech

Miss Draheim, the registrar at Lawrence University, gave a brief speech before submitting her request to have the council make a study and authorize the welfare-ordinance committee to draft a law similar to a model sent all Wisconsin communities by the state in 1967.

Previous model open housing ordinances sent to the council have been received and filed after going through committee.

Miss Draheim, attending her first regular council meeting since being elected to succeed Ald. Roy Pointer, who declined to seek re-election after running for mayor in the primary, did not specifically discuss the subject of civil rights.

Her request to have the ordinance considered, along with public hearings and open debate, automatically was re-

Discussion on Lakes Delayed By Valley COG

Kimberly Allowed Two Weeks to Develop Criteria

A meeting with state health officials on man-made lake purity standards has been delayed to allow Kimberly village engineers to prepare criteria.

The meeting was scheduled for today by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) but will be postponed for at least two weeks.

The Kimberly engineers — McMahon Associates, a Menasha-based firm — informed COG officials Wednesday that they have begun developing standards and design criteria for a swimming pond to be built in Sunset Park.

This proposed pond was to have been the subject of the meeting in Madison today. COG planners, who asked for the session, designed the park layout in which the lake will be located.

Kimberly has been seeking a statement of health standards from the State Board of Health. COG and McMahon officials were expected to meet with health officials today.

The criteria established by McMahon will be used in later talks with state health officials. The design standards will relate to water circulation and treatment facilities.

The lake is proposed as part of a 13-acre addition to the park, to be purchased for about $75,600, half of which will be financed by a $37,800 federal grant.

Outagamie Hires New Patrolmen

Three new traffic patrolmen will begin duty May 1 with the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department.

The men, hired as replacements for policemen who recently resigned, are Harold M. Burton, 30, 631½ W. Parkway Blvd.; Jerry M. Endres, 26, 921 W. Commercial St.; and Thomas Drootan, 30, Milwaukee.

They were hired to replace L. Daniel Koehler, who was hired by the Little Chute Police Department; George VanCuijk, who is now a Kimberly patrolman; and Gene Schroeder, who took other employment.

Burton, who is now employed by Riverside Paper Corp. of Appleton, graduated from Bear Creek High School in 1955. He formerly lived at route 1, Bear Creek. Burton was an Army helicopter pilot and saw action in the Vietnam war. He was in the army about six years. He is married.

Endres, married and the father of two children, worked at Zaug's Vending Service, Appleton, four years. The Appleton native was in the Air Force from 1960 through 1964. He attended Appleton High School, Drootan, graduate of Rufus King High School in Milwaukee, was in the Air Force from 1955 through 1959. He was an air policeman some of that time. He is unmarried. Drootan worked at American Motors Corp. in Milwaukee.

Miss Draheim Requests Passage Council Cool to Housing Ordinance

Several aldermen indicated they were cool to the proposal — "Especially coming from a council member with one night's seniority," as one put it.

Miss Draheim is the second woman to hold a seat on the council. Previously, Mrs. Dorothy Stillings represented the 7th Ward for several years.

In making 1968-69 committee appointments, Mayor George Buckley assigned Miss Draheim to the Civil Defense Committee, although she reportedly wanted to serve on the welfare-ordinance committee.

Statewide Law

The unofficial position of the council on fair housing to date is that if the law is to become tighter and uniform, it should be enacted as a statewide measure by the Wisconsin Legislature.

The Fox Valley Council Human Rights Council has been urging all communities in the region to support stronger fair housing legislation.

There reportedly are less than a handful of Negroes residing in the Fox Cities region. None were listed as residing in Appleton in the last annual report of the State Board of Health.

Buckley has taken the position that open housing legislation is a matter for the Legislature. Without such action, Buckley feels, there could conceivably be "hundreds of varying open housing ordinances on the books" in Wisconsin.

Congress recently adopted federal legislation on open housing to take effect in 1970 and President Johnson has signed the bill into law.

Telephone Strike Affects Wide Area in Fox Valley

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Over 250 employees of Wisconsin Telephone Company's Appleton office were expected to "walk off the job" at 2 p.m. today, joining some 440,000 Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, members in 48 states in a strike against the Bell System.

About 6,600 Wisconsin Telephone employees in the state were expected to join the walk-out. Wisconsin Telephone services about 75 per cent of the state and is a part of the Bell System.

Members of the union include operators, central office repairmen and test men, cable splicers, linemen and installers. Supervisory personnel reportedly will attempt to continue telephone service, but services by operators are expected to be hampered.

Communities Affected

Communities which will be affected by the strike include all the Fox Cities communities, New London, Waupaca, Oshkosh, Greenville and Horton. These are communities whose telephone services are coordinated through the Appleton division office of Wisconsin Telephone.

The nationwide strike originally was scheduled for April 12 but was delayed because of racial unrest in several major cities. Wisconsin Telephone contracts expired March 30 and have been continued on a day-to-day basis as both sides attempted to settle in bargaining sessions in Milwaukee.

The main point of the dispute is wages. As one Appleton union official put it, "We feel we deserve to catch up." Negotiations for Wisconsin Telephone contracts reportedly are from $8 to $10 apart after final proposals from both sides.

Picketing Planned

Eugene Van Ryzin, Local 5521 president, said this morning Appleton union members will meet in the Labor Temple immediately after the walkout to discuss strike procedures and picket duty. He said pickets are planned for the main telephone office at W. Washington and N. Superior streets, Appleton; the store rooms on Ballard Road, Appleton, and Milwaukee Street, Menasha and the central office

Soggy Pedestrians braved day-long April showers Wednesday as they went about their business in Appleton's downtown. # New Civic Auditorium Up for Study by Blue Ribbon Panel

Combined City-County Safety Building May Also be Probed

Mayor George Buckley was empowered by the city council Wednesday night to appoint a seven-member blue ribbon panel to conduct a study on the need for a civic auditorium or convention center and report back by July 1.

The committee, which will consist of two council members and five citizens, will "investigate and determine the feasibility, desirability, location, cost and methods of building or leasing an auditorium for conventions or meetings."

Council action came on the recommendation of the board of public works based on a resolution submitted by Ald. Catlin (7th), who stepped down from his post earlier in the week after not seeking re-election.

Catlin urged every consideration be given to an auditorium or convention center, and said he would continue to give citizen support to such a project.

Appointment Soon

Buckley is expected to make the appointments soon but has given no indication as to who will serve.

There is also the possibility the committee's study may be broadened to explore the city and Outagamie County getting together on a new combined Safety Building.

Persistent rumors have it that Appleton may need a new police station within a year, and possibly a new city hall, both recommended in the comprehensive plan prepared by a St. Louis consulting firm.

The existing police station and city hall buildings occupy prime downtown property.

Future construction of new facilities has been recommended by planners for the proposed civic center in the Jones Park area.

Next Week

"I should make the appointments by the end of next week," Buckley said today, "I want an objective committee and will sound out some of the people I have in mind."

Last night's council meeting — the first for the reorganized council — saw considerable business conducted with adjournment by 9 p.m.

Buckley told a newsman that, with the cooperation of the council, he intended to "run a tight ship" for all sessions.

Buckley, along with City Clerk Elden Broehm, Treasurer Ray Feuerstein, Assessor John Pierrre and City Atty. David Geenen, began four-year terms.

In other action, the council: —Decided to hold the landscaping around the new parking ramp in abeyance until the pedestrian mall project is undertaken in Soldiers Square — the latter tentatively planned for 1969.

—Authorized the public works director to contact officials of the Towns of Buchanan and Harrison to improve the roadway on Calumet Street from Telulah Avenue to John Street.

—Approved the request of Don's Cocktail Lounge, a new downtown night spot at 742 W. College Avenue, to erect a sentence investigation by the State Department of Health and —Set Saturday, June 15 as the Social Services, and continued date for the annual Flag Day parade.

Wildcat Strike Ends Quietly at Kaukauna Plant

KAUKAUNA — Employees of Badger Northland Inc., who walked off the job in an unauthorized labor dispute about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday came to work this morning following a day-long session of meetings between union officials, members and company officials Wednesday.

The walkout came as a result of a grievance which was settled without difficulty Wednesday. No picket lines were set up at either of the two company plants in Kaukauna.

The company is a subsidiary of Massey Ferguson Farm Implement Corp.

Ask Dutch Uncles For Big Brothers

NEENAH — A county-wide fund drive, both through a "Dutch Uncle" campaign and personal letters to more than 38,000 homes, will be undertaken by the newly-organized "Big Brother" movement on May 1.

Circuit Judge Arnold Cane will head the campaign which will attempt to raise $21,000 to cover the first year of operations for the group established to help the fatherless boy.

The Dutch Uncle program, as explained by Judge Cane, is seeking 100 contributions of $100 each to kickoff the program. If the goal is met, Dutch Uncles will account for half of the funds needed in the next year.

Steiger Took Floor for Housing Bill

WASHINGTON — One of Rep. William A. Steiger's chief speeches on the floor of the House came recently during deliberation on the open housing legislation that President Johnson signed into law late last week.

The Oshkosh Republican summarized his remarks in his regular report to constituents received by Sixth District newspapers this week. Recalling he authored and co-sponsored the Wisconsin open housing law while serving in the state Assembly in 1965, Steiger said he supported the federal legislation as a measure "to make the promise of America more of a reality for all of her citizens."

In his speech, Steiger answered several criticisms he said he had heard on the bill.

He said he disagreed that the measure provided for "forced housing." Steiger said the measure only prohibited refusing to sell housing property on the basis of race.

"All of the legitimate criteria which a home owner uses to judge the prospective buyer remain unimpaired." The terms of sale or rent aren't lowered by the law, and standards of social behavior, family size, keeping of pets, and similar considerations remain unaffected, he argued.

"It does mean, however, that these terms, standards and conditions must be applied equally to all people."

Co-Op Store Safe Rifled; $509 Taken

Burglars rifled a safe and stole several other items Wednesday night or early today at the Center Valley Cooperative hardware store, route 2, Black Creek.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators, who were notified of the burglary and safecracking about 7 a.m. today, said that $509 was taken from the small safe, which was carried into a back room where it was pried open. Several checks were left in the safe.

The burglars, who entered the building by prying open a west door, also fled with seven watches, a transistor radio, and binoculars.

Investigators said that employees were at the store until about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. Investigation is continuing today.

The safecracking under investigation is the second in the area within a week. Burglars fled with $1,707 after peeling a safe the night of April 11 or early the morning of April 12 at Oakwood Hills Supper Club, Combined Locks.

Richard Becker, state parole and probation officer and president of the county Big Brother unit, said Wednesday the money would be used to hire a program director, probably a man with social work training and experience, rent office space in the Twin Cities and Oshkosh and take care of clerical and other expenses.

Becker said the Big Brothers would eventually like to be connected to the Community Chest or United Fund campaigns. However, the organization must prove itself financially solvent for two years before it can apply for money from the annual fund drives.

The Big Brother program, which already exists in 113 communities throughout the country, provides adult male direction for boys between the ages of 8-17 who are without fathers.

A census in the school districts in Winnebago County last year showed there were 579 fatherless boys, youths who had no fatherly direction in the home because of death, divorce or desertion.

Need Exists

"We definitely feel there is a need for the program here," Becker told members of the Neenah Kiwanis Club Wednesday noon.

In the state, three areas — Dane, Racine and Sheboygan counties — have Big Brother movements in operation. Milwaukee, Manitowoc, Appleton and Wisconsin Rapids have programs in the planning stages.

Becker said the Big Brothers wouldn't conflict with existing organizations for boys since it was based on a one man-one boy relationship, while others were group-oriented.

The county movement will match fatherless boys with an adult male of similar interests. A screening committee, comprised of psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers and the proposed full-time director, will handle the pairings.

The adult will then be free to arrange any type of weekly activity with his "little brother." The group suggests that one hour per week be devoted to the personal relationship between the boy and his Big Brother.

While the program isn't geared to the delinquent youth, those boys won't be by-passed. However, the aim of the movement is "preventative," Becker explained, who noted that a fatherless boy is six times as likely to get involved in delinquent activity as a youth who has a father at home.

Appleton Panel To Discuss Fox River Pollution

"Ribbon of Decay," will be the theme of a panel discussion on pollution of the Fox River at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The program is sponsored by the congregation Social Ministry Committee. Dr. Walter Peterson, librarian at Lawrence University, will be coordinator.

Gordon Bubolz will lead discussion about the present state of the river. Thomas Howe, divisional vice president of Kimberly-Clark Corporation, will discuss the second facet dealing with action by industry.

A third presentation will be made by Leonard Montie, director of Quality Management, Division of Resource Development, Madison. He will speak on the question of what municipalities along the Fox are doing and can do to help stem pollution.

$5.2 Million Facility Open House Scheduled At Appleton High-East

An open house at the uniquely-designed Appleton High School-East has been scheduled from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Although there will be no guided tours, markers, and brochures with complete floor plans will help the visitors find their way.

Much has been said and written about the four-section school, built at a cost of about $5.2 million.

"Very little remains to be said. Sunday everyone has an opportunity to see where their tax dollars have gone," said Stanley Ore, principal.

Brief Outline

He did, however, briefly outline the compactness and uniqueness of the structure, dealing primarily with the round academic section.

One major characteristic, he felt, is the three floors stacked in a circular manner which takes much less time for students to get from class to class.

The open commons, used throughout the day and often in the evenings, is situated in such a way to block out classroom noise.

Pie-shaped classrooms tend to focus the students' attention toward the point. The arrangement, however, need not be static. If the teacher finds that he needs a different class setting, the movable furniture can be arranged in any way necessary.

Multi-Purpose Room

The auditorium, the last portion of the school to be completed, is a multi-purpose room — big enough for concerts and plays, but small enough for interest groups.

"It won't house the entire student body at one time but we have found that more often than not, the entire student body need not participate in every program," Ore explained.

Both the physical education and the industrial arts wings are separated from the academic areas, completely dimming the noise level. Both can be isolated with control gates, making them available for community use.

Already various community organizations have taken advantage of the facilities for seminars and recreation purposes.

Saved Expense

The lack of windows in most of the school, of course, saved on the expense, but more than that, the well-lighted classrooms, which so far have not given anyone a closed-in feeling, are able to keep the attention of the students.

"At first the teachers were skeptical, but now with the beautiful spring weather, many of them have commented that daydreaming has been eliminated," the principal explained.

Turning to the flexibility aspect of the school, Ore said that a variety of educational activities were added to the regular school schedule because the facilities make them possible.

The large and spacious commons, usually associated with a dining room and free periods only, has already been used for a play, dances, dinners and concerts.

More Use

Likewise, the auditorium has been used and will see more use in the future as organizations find that despite the 700 capacity, it is built in such a way so

Board Delays Administrative Side Decision

Personnel Committee Asked to Report on Need in Winnebago

OSHKOSH — The creation of the position of administrative assistant was delayed Wednesday when supervisors — by a slim margin — decided to refer the matter to the beefed-up personnel committee.

A resolution to create the position of a full time administrative assistant, responsible to the personnel committee, never reached a vote by supervisors. By a vote of 24-22, the board referred the matter to the personnel committee.

The board agreed on Tuesday to expand the duties of the personnel committee, principally for coordination and more efficiency in county government. The full time administrative assistant was the second part of the package.

By creating the full time position now, Supv. George Christoph, Neenah, said the board would be missing the opportunity to see if the position was really needed. He also asked what the cost would be.

Duties

Supv. Hibbard Engler, Oshkosh, said the board would only be creating the position. The details such as salary, duties, budget and job qualifications would be decided by the personnel committee.

Agreeing that there was "no harm" in creating the position, Supv. Herb Ilk, Oshkosh, vice chairman of the judiciary committee, said, "This resolution does not hire anyone."

But chairman of the personnel committee Supv. Floyd Shurbert, Oshkosh, asked the board to refer the matter to the personnel committee, so it could adequately determine what is needed, with the possibility of asking the board at a later date for the assistant.

"Maybe we don't need a full time administrative assistant," said Christoph.

"It would be disappointing," Engler said, if after the time spent in fully analyzing the LITTLE CHUTE — Sister M. Suzanne Noeffke, O. P., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noeffke, Appleton, will take listeners on a "Biblical Tour of the Holy Land" with slides and discussion at 7:30 p.m. April 28 in the St. John Grade School gym.

Sister Suzanne recently received a doctorate in linguistics from the University of Wisconsin. Title of the thesis she prepared in connection with her doctorate was "The Linguistic Analysis of Stylistic Structures: Projections into a Linguistic Theory of Translation Illustrated in a Study of the Hebrew Text and Selected English Translations of Isaiah 1-5."

Presently teaching in the departments of language and religious studies at Dominican College, Racine, she received her B. A. degree at Dominican College in 1960.

Mail Council Asked to Improve Flow

MENASHA — Postmaster James Omachinski has announced plans to form a Menasha Mail Users Council to facilitate the flow of mail through the local post office by improving communications and coordination between local mail service users and the post office.

The group is scheduled to organize April 23 at a meeting in the Menasha Hotel.

Omachinski said businessmen often can get more for their postage budgets by talking with postal authorities about such need, the board would circumvent what has been done.

Supv. Roland Kampe, Town of Menasha, moved that the matter be referred. "I'm certain that the personnel committee should study it and bring in a recommendation," he said.

Youth Admits Theft From Appleton Homes

Appleton detectives said today that a 15-year-old youth has admitted stealing women's underclothing from two northside homes during the past month.

Detectives said the items were taken from homes on Brookdale Court. All of the stolen merchandise was recovered.

The youth, after admitting the March 22 and April 12 thefts, was turned over to his parents to await further action by juvenile authorities.

matters as transportation dispatch times of packaging materials.

Cooperative programs likely for consideration by the new council, Omachinski said, might include cycled mailings to avoid jamming the post office with bulk mailings at the peak first-of-the-month period; early warnings to let postal workers know in advance when to expect large mail shipments by individual mailers.

Legislature May Deal With Property Taxes

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The hauntingly familiar problem of property tax exemptions, source of more political pressure as local taxes rise steadily, may get more than a token acknowledgment from the next legislature.

The Joint Legislative Council has directed that the staff of one of the joint legislative standing committees prepare preliminary research on the problem, for reference to the Tarr Task Force on State Aids, Taxes, and Local Government Reorganization.

The council originally had asked the Tarr commission to make such a study, but Dr.

Curtis Tarr of Lawrence college, its chairman, demurred with the explanation that his group does not have sufficient resources in personnel to pursue a job of such size.

The council then directed that the joint survey committee on tax exemptions of the legislature prepare the background materials to illustrate the scope of the problem for the Tarr commission, and its possible comments when it files its legislative recommendations early next year.

"Hard Line"

The joint survey committee, currently headed by Assemblyman Franklin Jahnke of Green Lake County, has thus far been concerned with a critical screening of new tax exemption bills filed in the legislature. It has followed a "hard" line, and usually recommends against the enactment of such proposals as against the public interest. The committee was created about a decade ago under pressure of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which had vainly fought the rising tide of exemption bills that were eroding the local tax base, in its view.

But hundreds of tax exemp-

Pension for Lt. Main Has Opposition

Kaukauna Council Wants Clothing Fund Omitted

KAUKAUNA — A pension approved for retiring Police Lt. Robert Main ran into opposition Tuesday night when it was brought before the city council.

Ald. Russel Dix (4th) indicated Main's clothing allowance was included in the basis for determining the pension. He claimed it was not justified because a percentage of the allowance was not included in the city's pension fund.

He requested the city clerk to write the League of Wisconsin Municipalities' legal counsel to determine whether the pension was justified. City Atty. Donald Green said the city's only recourse was to ask the Circuit Court to review the actions of the board of pensions.

Matter Referred

Dix then asked the matter be referred to the personnel committee for study. He stated court action could be started later.

A letter from Local 1594, tions remain on the statute books, because they were enacted before the lawmakers had the benefit of such critical screening machinery.

Dr. Tarr told the council that he shares its concern about the effect of exemptions in making the problem of property taxes more severe, and said that his group's meetings have heard an abundance of testimony on the subject. The comment indicated that the problem will be a part of his task force report to the legislature, and that reform may be advocated.

International Association of Fire Fighters, was read claiming Chief William Haupt failed to follow grievance procedures set up in the union's agreement with the city. The complaint said a fireman who was called in to assist at a fire at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., did not receive his two-hour call-in time according to the agreement.

The letter indicated that the fire captain on duty included the man's name on the report for overtime pay, but the name was removed by the chief who later refused to accept the grievance. Ald. Lloyd Kloehn, (2nd) moved the matter be referred to the personnel committee for prompt action.

Mayor Gilbert Anderson was instructed to write news media and members of the Group Ambulance Replacement Drive committee commending them for cooperation and efforts in helping the drive. To date the committee has collected slightly more than $6,000 and has received pledges for another $2,500. Total price of the ambulance, in the bids approved by the council Tuesday, is $10,400.

Anderson paid tribute to Lt. Main for his 31 years service with the police department and was instructed by the council to write a letter of commendation after his resignation was accepted. Mayor Anderson thanked council members, department heads and other officials for cooperation during the past year. He also commended Carl Engerson who did not seek reelection as Fifth Ward alderman since his new job prevented him from attending the many meetings involved in political office.

Council members voted to have Richard Landreman Associates, auditing firm, examine city books before Roger Belling, newly elected treasurer, assumes duties.

Youths Quizzed About Alleged Rape Incident

Outagamie Police Holding New London Resident in Jail

One youth is in custody today and another was released to his parents following questioning in connection with the alleged rape April 11 of a 17-year-old Clintonville girl near Bear Creek.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators said that statements were obtained from the two youths questioned Wednesday night. The youth being held in the Outagamie County jail is from New London. The youth released after questioning is from Hortonville. Both are 17 years old.

The New London youth was taken into custody in that city Wednesday night.

Investigators went to Waupaca today to question more youths in connection with the alleged rape. The girl told police that she was abducted from a Shiocton beer bar the night of April 11 by six youths. She said she was forced into a dark blue car and was disrobed and raped by one youth in the back seat. Another youth held her down, she said.

She told authorities she was left on a town road near the Bear Creek dump. She walked to a nearby farmhouse and notified police. The girl was in New London Community Hospital for examination.

The two 17-year-olds were questioned about the rape, investigators said, following questioning of several youths by Waupaca County authorities in connection with burglaries and thefts in that county.

Investigators said some of the youths being held in Waupaca would be questioned today about their roles in the alleged abduction and rape.

Investigators also said today that a statement was obtained from the Hortonville youth about a March 28 burglary at the Dog N' Suds Drive-In on U.S. 45, south of New London. About $15 in change was taken during the burglary, in which at least two of the youths were involved, investigators said.

The youths also will be questioned about recent window breakage in the Appleton, Kaukauna, and Neenah areas, investigators said. The recent wave of vandalism involved the use of air rifles.

Mukwonago Man Pleads No Contest To Driving Charge

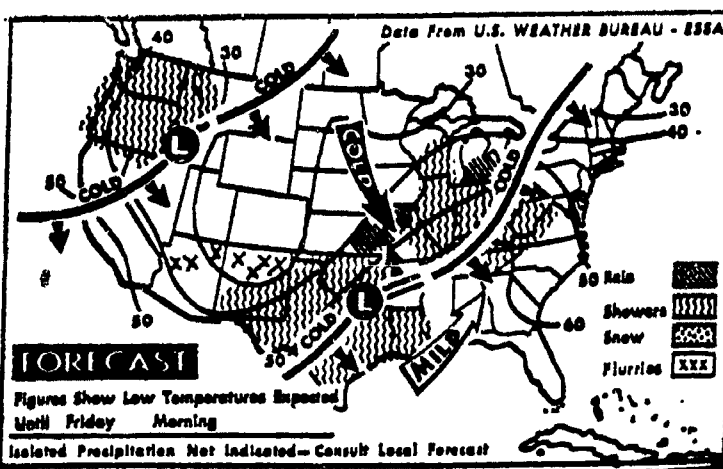

A former Mukwonago (Wis.) village president who was charged a year ago with driving while under the influence of intoxicants, was fined $150 and costs or 80 days in jail Wednesday after being found guilty of a reduced charge of reckless driving.

John G. Maher, 46, Mukwonago, pleaded no contest, through his Appleton attorney, and was found guilty by Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Maher did not appear in court.

Dennis Herring, assistant city attorney, asked for the amended charge Wednesday, saying that he did not think the city would be able to meet its burden of proof on the drunk driving charge.

Herring said that no chemical test for alcohol had been given Maher. He said he had conferred with police on the reduction.

Appleton police arrested Maher after observing the erratic operation of his car on S. Lawe Street about 1:45 a.m. April 8, 1967. Maher pleaded innocent and posted a $204 bond on April 14, 1967. He then filed a demand for a 12-member jury. The trial date had been rescheduled once.

Widespread Areas of Showers and rain are forecast for tonight in the Pacific Northwest, in Texas and Oklahoma and throughout the Midwest. Snow flurries are expected in parts of Arizona and New Mexico. It will be cooler in the Plains and New England States. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Injuries in Crash Fatal To Omro Man

Davis was driving east on Bradley Road about 6:46 a.m. April 3 when his car collided with a truck driven south on County Trunk X by Douglas H. Steinke, 25, Berlin. Both drivers were hospitalized.

County police said Davis failed to yield from a stop sign on Bradley Road.

Beginning operators are now paid $64 a week and skilled $155 by the Wisconsin Telephone Co. Van Ryzin said that top-paid Appleton office operators receive $85.50 per week.

In negotiations with the Western Electric Co., a Bell System subsidiary, the CWA has been seeking a 10.25 per cent raise, with 7.25 per cent offered. This would set a pattern for other CWA unions.

Edward V. Peil, state CWA director, said members of 24 locals in Wisconsin voted by an 8-1 margin to authorize a strike. Van Ryzin said the final company offer was for an 18-month contract while the union has asked a 12-month contract.

"The company has offered about $4 to $6 weekly pay increases for 18 months while we have asked $7 to $11 increases on a 12-month contract," he said.

Van Ryzin indicated that he expected bargaining would be continued.

Supervisory personnel also will assume repair duties, but he said "installation of equipment will be curtailed." Long distance dialing and local calls probably will not be affected.

Breakdowns Possible

A spokesman of the Wisconsin unit of the CWA said serious mechanical breakdowns could be expected within a week or two if a strike continued that long, disrupting dial telephoning.

Ruled Out of Order Wachtendonk, Broehm Clash Over Personnel

Ald. William Wachtendonk (3rd) clashed with City Clerk Elden Broehm on office staff attrition Wednesday night and was promptly ruled out of order by Mayor George Buckley.

It represented the second straight night that Wachtendonk, an unsuccessful candidate for mayor in the March primary, attacked the city administration.

His actions came on the heels of earlier pleas by Buckley and Council President Alvin E. Tewes (5th) for council unity and cooperation, along with setting "personal politics" aside.

Financial Statement

Wachtendonk triggered a fast exchange between himself and Broehm when questioning why the monthly financial statement included $385 for Manpower, Inc. for personnel in the clerk's office.

Wachtendonk also said he checked with the personnel director and finance directors and learned $1,722 had been spent for special employees and wanted to know why.

At the same time, however, he answered his own question by citing a series of personnel changes in the clerk's office over the past year.

"I want to know why you can't hire anybody?," Wachtendonk asked Broehm.

Broehm told Wachtendonk to also check the turnover in some other departments and said it was difficult to get qualified personnel for what the city was willing to pay.

Hire Additional Help

Broehm said it was necessary to fill vacancies and hire additional help to assist with work connected with the March and April elections, including a major citywide voter registration program.

"I would say the record shows there is quite a bit of turnover in your office," Wachtendonk said.

"As far as I am concerned, the clerk's office requires qualified help to do the kind of job for which the public is entitled," Broehm replied.

"I think it might have been well for you to have discussed this matter with me," Broehm told Wachtendonk. "Maybe you should heed what was said last night (Tuesday's reorganization meeting) and work with department heads and be constructive rather than destructive."

Playing Politics

"You're playing politics and publicity-hunting," Broehm added.

At this point, Buckley halted the verbal flurry by advising Wachtendonk if he wanted information on personnel, he could get it at the clerk's office during regular hours.

"I don't see any reason to take up the time of the entire council with this sort of thing," the mayor said as he ruled out further discussion.

Bubolz said the parks committee has sought to negotiate with Magolski, but that he has refused to set any price on the property. Several supervisors indicated they felt the appraised value of $3,189 put on the land was too low. Bubolz said the committee has indicated a willingness to go higher but Magolski has not indicated what price would be acceptable.

Bubolz indicated condemnation would be used only as a last resort, but wanted the authority as leverage in negotiations. The property is the last major piece on the hill which the county does not have under option.

A request to the City of Appleton to reduce parking time limits around the courthouse from four hours to two hours was approved by the board.

The reduced time limit is aimed at getting a greater turnover in parking and relieving some of the congestion in the immediate courthouse vicinity.

An earlier proposal to request parking meters was dropped when it was learned installation costs between $80 and $110 per meter.

The parks committee also was given authority to regulate fishing at county-owned access sites and docking of boats at the access sites.

Fishing Shanties

The committee reported it was having problems with fishing shanties on floats occupying most of the shoreline at the sites to the detriment of shore-based fishing.

A proposal to offer the UW-Fox Valley Center to the State Coordinating Commission on Higher Education was held over for a month at the request of Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, chairman of the Health and Education Committee. DeLaHunt said the wording of the proposal would have to be changed.

A report on hiring of an architect for the jail remodeling project had been expected but members of the public properties committee later indicated they had not been able to conclude the study in time for this board session.

The search for an architect started after the state issued an order March 22 giving the county six months to start remodeling or face having the jail closed.

Alderman Douses 'Smoking Lamp' In City Council

Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) doesn't believe politicians should meet in smoke-filled rooms.

He made his point at the first meeting of the new city council Wednesday night.

Radder caught two colleagues puffing on cigarettes and reminded Mayor George Buckley of the council's long-standing ban on smoking.

"Will the defendants please refrain and I'll rule they be put on probation for good behavior," Mayor Buckley quipped.

Radder had kept the air clear.

However there was one pipe smoker in the audience who managed to escape Radder's caustic eye.

Boys' Hike Ends Near Appleton

Stormy Home Life Preceded Slaying

WAUPACA — A stormy home life which included beatings was revealed during testimony Wednesday at the juvenile hearing here for a 16-year-old Manawa youth being held in the county jail in connection with the shooting of his stepfather on April 5.

Norman Winters, 39, 116 High St., Manawa, died on the morning of April 5 when he was struck in the head by a blast from a 20-gauge shotgun. Since that time the 16-year-old boy has been in the county jail.

Wednesday's hearing was held in Waupaca Juvenile Court with Judge Wendell McHenry presiding. After hearing testimony from several witnesses Judge McHenry said he would rule as soon as possible on the petition asking that the boy be declared delinquent. The petition asking that the boy be declared delinquent was submitted to the court by Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson on the day of the shooting. During the same proceedings, Waupaca attorney Edward Hart was appointed to represent the youth.

Details of an argument on the morning of the shooting as well as several other family arguments were revealed during the hearing. The argument preceding the fatal shooting stemmed from the youth leaving home to live on an uncle's farm and also taking his car with him.

Testimony indicated the youth feared Winters, not only because of the incident which immediately preceded the shooting but from the many incidents which occurred at the home since the youth's mother married Winters.

Following the three hours of testimony, Judge McHenry ordered that the youth be returned to juvenile detention at the county jail and that he remain there until a decision is reached by the judge.

also be stronger, Bengtson said. "The talent is being equalized from year to year and it's now well distributed," Bengtson said.

The most difficult phase of the schedule could well be the latter part. The Packers close the season Dec. 15 at Chicago, after coming off a Dec. 7 game at Green Bay with the always dangerous Baltimore Colts.

The Baltimore game, a Saturday afternoon contest, comes only six days after the Packers invade San Francisco for a Dec. 1 meeting with the 49ers.

"That's not so bad," said Bengtson. "Other years have been worse."

The Packers enjoy the home advantage in the early going. Including a Sept. 22 match with the Vikings at Milwaukee, Green Bay's first three games are at home.

The Packers take the road for the first time Oct. 6 when they meet Atlanta. They return home Oct. 13 for a Milwaukee game with the Los Angeles Rams, the team the Packers beat for the Western title at Milwaukee last December.

The rematch with Dallas comes Oct. 28 in a nationally televised night game at Dallas.

Jim Taylor and the Saints will be featured Nov. 17 at Milwaukee.

"That should be interesting," Bengtson said.

Packers Open With Eagles

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers meet the Philadelphia Eagles Sept. 15 in Green Bay in the official start of the Packers' bid for an unprecedented fourth straight National Football League title.

Coach Phil Bengtson, who succeeds Vince Lombardi as head coach of the world champions, said he was pleased with the schedule, which is sprinkled with teams the Packers have met infrequently in recent seasons.

The Eagles, the Washington Redskins and the New Orleans Saints are among the teams the Packers didn't play in 1967 which are listed on the 1968 schedule released today.

Eastern Champions

So are the Dallas Cowboys, the Eastern Conference cham-

“Detroit came a long way last year,” Bengtson said. “Minnesota came the same way. They came up with a real fine defense and a running offense. They did as well against us as anyone. And the Bears came up with a well organized defense and with Sayers in the offense, they'll be tough.”

“Last year, they were all in rebuilding stages and now they have all rebuilt.”

The league as a whole should

Bakken Will Be Honored At Madison

MADISON (AP) — Kicking specialist Jim Bakken of the St. Louis football Cardinals will receive one of four special awards to be presented at the annual Madison Sports Hall of Fame dinner June 5.

Other recipients will be University of Wisconsin basketball star Joe Franklin; La Verne Pieper, coach of Stoughton High School's 1968 wrestling champions and the late F. Edwin Schmitz, long-time promoter of scholarships for UW athletes.

Bakken is a former University of Wisconsin and Madison West star, while Franklin is a former Central High standout.

The awards will be presented by the Madison Pen and Mike club, a group of sports writers and sportscasters, and the Bowman Sports Foundation.

In a special ceremony, Alan “The Horse” Ameche, former UW and Baltimore Colt football star, will be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Main speaker will be Phil Bengtson, new head coach of the Green Bay Packers.

Baltimore's Boog Powell says the new Oakland Coliseum is a hitter's park, but his teammate Dave McNally made it something less than that for the new tenants.

“The ball seems to carry well here,” said Powell after he socked a homer that helped the Orioles to a 4-1 victory over the Oakland Athletics in the first game played in the new edifice. “I'd like to play here all the time.”

But McNally, who limited the Athletics to two hits, understandably noticed some advantages for the pitchers.

Crowd of 50,164

McNally held the Athletics hitless until Rick Monday homered leading off the sixth and after that the only Oakland hit was Tony La Russa's single in the ninth. He was promptly erased in a double play. A crowd of 50,164 watched the opener.

In other American League games, New York beat California 3-2, Minnesota crushed Washington 13-1, Detroit topped Cleveland 4-3 in 10 innings and Boston shut out Chicago 2-0.

New 3-Way Rivalry

East, West Trackmen Clash With Neenah

A new triangular track rivalry will be launched at 4 p.m. Friday when Appleton East and West invade Neenah High School.

For the Patriots, it will be the first outdoor meet of the season—and of their history.

The Terrors have made one outdoor start, losing 82-45 at Preble. The Rockets placed second Tuesday in a 3-way meet that included winner Fond du Lac and third place West Bend. Neenah scored 43 points, while Fondy tallied 78½.

The three Fox Cities schools all have new track coaches. They are Neenah's Glen Severson, West's Pat O'Reilly and East's Paul Freund.

Top Prospects

East's top prospects include hurdler Bill King, who captured a third and a fourth place in the recent Fox River Valley Conference indoor meet; Jeff Forslund, a fourth-place finisher in the 60-yard dash of the indoor test; Don Knaack, the fifth place shot putter in the conference meet; pole vaulters Cliff Tierney and Bob Manwell; long jumper and high jumper Neil Gleason, shot-putter Terry Calder and miler Scott Schultz.

Tierney won the pole vault event in last year's Neenah-Appleton meet.

The Terrors will be led by Steve Lamers and Joe Boelter, who swept a pair of firsts apiece in the Preble meet. Lamers won the long jump and high jump against Preble and

Other leading West point-scoring prospects include miler Tom Sommers and Mike Moriarity; half-miler Jim Ruwaldt; quarter-miler Ken Vokral; and 2-miler Bohon.

Neenah will be led by Russ Chulz, who swept the 100 and 220-yard dashes in Tuesday's triangular. He also was part of the winning half-mile relay team, which included Les Valow, Bill Francart and Bob Beach.

Other top Rocket threats are Bob Moen, who took seconds in three events (high and low hurdles and high jump) Tuesday; pole vaulter Ted Andrews, miler Dan Hass and discusman “Skip” Iltis.

Neenah's Jim Bemowski, Mid-Eastern Conference 440 champion missed Tuesday's meet because of a pulled muscle and his status for Friday is uncertain.

Two New Leaders Posted In Bowl-O-Rama Divisions

Oshkosh's Lou Youngwirth Has Class A Lead; Black Creek's Mrs. Jean Nettekoven High

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Lou Youngwirth of Oshkosh and Mrs. Jean Nettekoven, Black Creek, walked into the spotlight as they took over division leads in Bowl-O-Rama action at the 41 Bowl Wednesday night.

Youngwirth slammed a 889 total to take first place in men's Class A and Mrs. Nettekoven posted a 789 count good for the lead in women's Class B.

The sixth annual bowling classic, sponsored by The Post-Crescent, continues tonight with action on 7 and 9 p.m. shifts.

Other top changes from Wednesday night saw John Heigl, Neenah, move into second place in Class A with 885 while Bill Mathiebe, Brillion, climbed into fifth place with an 854, Stan Clark, Neenah, took over ninth with 836 and Lee Burdick, Neenah, counted 835 to move into 10th.

The top three leaders in men's Class B, Jim Bongers, Little Chute; Ron Block, New London and Mike Fane, Appleton, held their positions while fourth place was taken over by Melvin Casper, Fond du Lac, with an 847 total.

Lou Mueller, Appleton, moved into sixth place in Class B with an 826 and Jim Salentine, another Appleton kegler, placed eighth with 821.

Olive Blake, Oshkosh, retained the Class A women's lead while Betty Eggenberger, Appleton, took over second place with a 783 count. Carol Pelz, Omro, ranks third and Donna Schnabl, Neenah, moved into fourth place with a 734 count.

Along with Mrs. Nettekoven's sparkling performance in Class B, Joan Herried, Neenah, vaulted into third place with a 779. Tuesday's leader, Mrs. Barbara Bongers, Little Chute, is now in second place with 783.

Lucy Clark, Appleton, took over fourth place in Class B with a 776 count and Karen Peterson, Neenah, now ranks ninth with 757.

Youngwirth, a veteran of 20 years of bowling, resides at 224 W. 17th Ave. Oshkosh and oddly enough his high scratch game last night was a 224.

Lou belted 29 strikes in the four games as he recorded a 849 scratch, highest scratch total in the Bowl-O-Rama to date. Youngwirth bowls in three leagues at Oshkosh and his top average is 184.

Hitting well in tournaments is nothing new for Youngwirth as he won the Oshkosh city all-events title last spring with a 2,008 count. Helping to get that total was a 701 national honor count in the team event. Lou also recorded a 299 game in league bowling last season.

Youngwirth has had four national honor counts in his 20 years of competition and rolled a 300 game in a tournament at Poy Sippi in 1956. Back in 1954, Lou was the state Knights of Columbus singles champion.

Heigl, who took over the runnerup spot in Class A, could very well have gone into the lead except for a bad start. John rolled a 148 scratch in his opening game and then rebounded with lines of 236, 200 and 197 for 781 scratch and 885 with his handicap.

Mrs. Nettekoven was competing in the Bowl-O-Rama for the second time and has been bowling in league competition for five years. She carried a 136 average this past season while bowling once-a-week in the

2 Franchises May be Picked By NL Friday

Definite Action Requested by at Least One Executive

CHICAGO (AP) — National League baseball club owners will meet Friday apparently intent on selecting two new franchises and deciding whether to play catch-up with the American League on the start of a 12-club circuit.

The American League last fall approved expansion to 12 clubs in 1969, reviving a Kansas City franchise to compensate for the A's switch to Oakland this season and adding Seattle as a second new member.

Warren Giles, National League president, earlier this week said the meeting was aimed only at setting down ground rules to five cities seeking the two new franchises for operation not later than 1970.

Definite Action

But one NL club executive said “there could be some definite action because time is getting short.”

The franchise applicants include Dallas-Fort Worth, San Diego, Milwaukee, Montreal and Buffalo.

Although Giles said he expected no major action by the NL club owners, urgency could be prompted by the fact the American League has a special meeting scheduled in Chicago next

Little Cookie Rojas Homers as Phillies End Early Tailspin

Mets' Rookie Blanks Giants, 3-0; Braves Niekro Stops Cubs, 2-0

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the wind shifts his way, little Cookie Rojas can blow up a big storm.

“I hit home runs only in hurricanes,” said the slender second baseman, who cracked a game-winning, two-run homer Wednesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies ended a six-game tailspin by edging Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Rojas' fifth inning shot off Drysdale enabled the struggling Phils to pull out their home opener and snap their longest losing streak since 1964, when a ten-game September skid cost them the National League pennant.

Win Impressively

The New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates also captured their home openers in impressive fashion, the Mets trimming San Francisco 3-0 behind rookie left-hander Jerry Kosman and the Pirates smothering Houston 13-4 with a 17-hit barrage. Cincinnati nipped St. Louis 4-3 in 12 innings and Atlanta blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0 in other National League action.

The Phillies trailed 2-1 when Tony Taylor stroked a two-out single in the fifth and Rojas slammed a 3-2 pitch into the lower center field seats. “I was trying to punch the ball for a hit,” said Rojas, whose first 1968 homer gave him a six-year career total of 17. “With a runner on first and Johnny Callison coming up I just wanted to keep it going.”

“He gave me a high fast ball and I punched at it. It got up in the air and the wind did the rest. We were lucky the wind shifted later or Jim Lefebvre's shot in the eighth would have gone out.”

Manager Gene Mauch lifted southpaw Woody Fryman with two Dodgers on in the eighth after center fielder Tony Gonzalez raced to the wall and gloved Lefebvre's 400-foot drive. Reliever Dick Farrell then came on to preserve Fryman's first victory as a Phillie.

Kosman scattered seven hits and struck out 10 on the way to his second successive shutout, lowering the Met pitching staff's earned run average to 0.81 before 52,079 Shea Stadium supporters—the largest crowd in the majors thus far.

Kosman stopped the Giants cold after escaping a bases-loaded none-out jam in the first inning by striking out Willie Mays, retiring Jim Hart on a foul pop and fanning Jack Hiatt. Cleon Jones homered for the Mets.

Celtics Triumph, Tie Series

BOSTON (AP) — The annual National Basketball Association showdown between the rival Philadelphia 76ers and the Boston Celtics has come down to its final playoff game. You can take your pick of opinions on how much the home edge will mean.

"The home court doesn't mean much to these two teams," Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell said after his Celtics evened the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals 3-3 with a 114-106 victory Wednesday night. "The team that has a good night wins; it's as simple as that."

Philadelphia's Alex Hannum sees it differently.

"If the Celtics can come in there and beat us they deserve all the credit in the world, because they're going to be up against a tough basketball team," Hannum said.

Retain Advantage

"We worked all season for the home court advantage," he added. "We've still got it. We're going to have that crowd yelling for us Friday night."

The Celtics had it Wednesday night, and they made the most of it before a wildly cheering crowd of 14,780 at Boston Garden, leading virtually all the way behind the sparkling all-round play of Russell and John Havlicek.

Russell scored 17 points, also stronger, Bengtson said. "The talent is being equalized from year to year and it's now well distributed," Bengtson said.

The most difficult phase of the schedule could well be the latter part. The Packers close the season Dec. 15 at Chicago, after coming off a Dec. 7 game at Green Bay with the always dangerous Baltimore Colts.

The Baltimore game, a Saturday afternoon contest, comes only six days after the Packers invade San Francisco for a Dec. 1 meeting with the 49ers.

"That's not so bad," said Bengtson. "Other years have been worse."

The Packers enjoy the home advantage in the early going. Including a Sept. 22 match with the Vikings at Milwaukee. Green Bay's first three games are at home.

The Packers take the road for the first time Oct. 6 when they meet Atlanta. They return home Oct. 13 for a Milwaukee game with the Los Angeles Rams, the team the Packers beat for the Western title at Milwaukee last December.

The rematch with Dallas comes Oct. 28 in a nationally-televized night game at Dallas.

Jim Taylor and the Saints will be featured Nov. 17 at Milwaukee.

"That should be interesting," Bengtson said.

The schedule by dates, day games unless otherwise noted:

Stock Market Irregularly Up

Basic Optimism Continues After Peace Overtures

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed an irregular advance in active trading this afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 300 issues on the New York Stock Exchange, while industrial averages were depressed by softness in component blue chips.

Analysts saw profit taking on blue-chip strength that followed the first news of possible peace talks nearly three weeks ago.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 325.8 with industrials off .4, rails up 1.7 and utilities off 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average was lower all morning but by noon showed a slight gain of .52 at 908.69.

A rise of nearly 3 points by International Nickel followed news of its 2 1/2-for-1 stock split proposal, a boost in its dividend and a rise in earnings.

Du Pont, influential in the averages, continued weak, dropping about 1 1/2 in continued profit taking.

Another key stock, Johns-Manville, dropped about 2 points.

The building materials concern and others in its group were affected by news that housing starts dropped 3.5 percent in March.

Big Three auto stocks took fractional losses. Steels continued to edge higher on balance.

Sunasco, up about a point, continued its spurt, adding another relatively low priced issue, other large percentage gain for IBM lost 2 and Polaroid gained 2.

McDonnell Douglas lost 2 1/2 at 439 3/4 on a block of 155,800 shares after opening at 45 on a block of 116,400 shares.

Only Beef Is Labeled Coppselect!

The Cops' beef selectors go right to the packing houses, and from the many quarters of beef labeled USDA Choice, select, on an average, only three of ten steers that can qualify for the Coppselect label. Our beef selector will not buy the big steers, or the real small ones . . . but, labels Coppselect, the steers that are just reaching maturity. They're tender and flavorful, with just enough marbling to give off those rich, sizzling cooking juices.

Because our beef selector is so fussy . . . we can say with confidence . . . only the very best US Choice beef is branded Coppselect.

If you haven't already, isn't it time for you to enjoy the very best . . . Coppselect USDA Choice Beef?

FBI Charges Eric Galt With Murder of King

Suspect Identified by Californians

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The mysterious Eric Starvo Galt has been charged with conspiracy and murder in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The FBI said in a fugitive warrant issued Wednesday night in Birmingham, Ala., that Galt, 36, conspired with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother" to violate King's civil rights.

The state charge of first-degree murder was filed against Galt in Memphis where King, 39, Nobel Prize winning civil rights leader, was shot to death on a motel balcony April 4 by a sniper who fled from a nearby rooming house.

Eric Starvo Galt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men say they told the FBI that a man identified as Eric Starvo Galt was a shy, quiet man who spent $700 in three months on dancing and bartending lessons.

The managers of a dancing school and a bartending school told newsmen Wednesday they identified a former pupil to the FBI as Galt, who is wanted in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., April 4 in Memphis, Tenn.

Rod Arvidson, 46, general manager of National Dance Studios, said he notified the FBI Saturday after recognizing Galt from a composite drawing in a newspaper.

"He's certainly no mixer," Arvidson said. "He had trouble coordinating one foot with another."

A photograph of Galt circulated by the FBI was obtained Tuesday from the International School of Bartending, the school's director said. The director, Tomas Reyes Lau, said a man called Eric S. Galt was graduated from the Hollywood school March 2 after an excellent record in a $225 four-week course, which he attended Saturday mornings and Sunday afternoons.

Galt's application listed his address as Hollywood and his birthdate as July 30, 1931 and stated he was single. The FBI in Washington, D.C., said the wanted man was 36.

As a student of bartending and dancing, not only Lau and Arvidson but two dance instructors agreed Galt was withdrawn and a loner.

"He just didn't show anything but a crooked smile and a fidgety manner," said an instructor, Kathy Nolan, 21.

Arvidson said a man who signed enrollment records as Eric S. Galt took "50 or 60" lessons in social dancing over a 2½ month period ending in mid-February which cost him about $500.

Galt told Arvidson he had operated a restaurant-bar in Mexico, the manager said. But Arvidson, who is taking Spanish lessons, said Galt failed to respond when he put questions in Spanish to him.

Lau, a Mexican-American, said he felt Galt was intelligent. But Arvidson, agreeing with an FBI description, said Galt's grammar "was less than ideal, mixing tenses; double negatives and so on" with a slight Southern accent.

Telephone Workers' Walkout Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 200,000 AFL-CIO Communications Workers are on the verge of the first nationwide telephone strike in 21 years, but their possible walkout isn't expected to interfere much with service.

Although talks continued in Washington, New York and elsewhere as today's 3 p.m. EST strike deadline neared, "We have regretfully reached the point of no return," said union President Joseph A. Beirne.

We will maintain service and it will be good service," said H. I. Romnes, chairman of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent firm of the strike-threatened Bell Telephone System.

Heaviest impact of a strike would be on new telephone installations around the country because 23,000 installers who work for Bell's subsidiary Western Electric Co. are involved.

"Despite lengthy attempts by both sides, I am convinced it is now too late to avoid the strike," Beirne said in a statement issued from union headquarters in Washington.

"I don't think it is too late to avert a strike," responded Romnes, who was in Boston Wednesday for an annual AT&T board meeting.

"It is too bad Mr. Beirne has now apparently decided to lead his members into strike action," Romnes said.

Beirne, who described the nationwide Bell System as a "30 billion dollar computer," conceded a strike would have little immediate impact on the company or telephone users.

"File of Junk"

But he said without the skills of union members who repair and keep the vast telephone system running, "that computer will eventually become an enormous pile of junk."

The union said a strike would probably hamper some long-distance calls, information requests and other services requiring operators.

Romnes said there might be some initial confusion at the start of a strike, but that supervisors would quickly take over the tasks of telephone operators.

Western Electric Co. agreed in New York to discuss new union proposals but Patrick J. Morgan, chief negotiator for the 23,000 telephone installers, said, "There's no way in the world other than a miracle to avoid the strike. We'll be out at 3 p.m."

The installers, pattern wage setters for the union, now average $3.27 per hour. Other Bell System workers involved in the threatened strike in 14 states and the District of Columbia average $2.79.

Company wage offers of 7.5 per cent, rejected by the union, would give pay raises averaging about 24 cents per hour to installers and about 20 cents to the other workers over 18 months.

The Bell System said its offer was the equivalent of 5.6 per cent on an annual basis, but that the union was demanding increases of 10.5 per cent over 18 months—7.8 per cent when figured annually.

'Lack of Good Will' Hanoi Again Raps Insincerity of U.S.

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam demanded today that the United States "agree without delay" to Phnom Penh or Warsaw as the site for preliminary peace talks and also stop all attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

The demand, in the official Communist Party newspaper Nhan Dan, repeated the charge that the United States is insincere in its talk of peace efforts.

"Once again," it said, "we demand that the U.S. government give up its attitude that shows a lack of good will and agree without delay to either Phnom Penh or Warsaw for the site of contacts. We demand that the United States stop definitively and unconditionally its bombing, and other acts of war on the whole territory of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may begin."

Presumably this latter referred to later peace negotiations, since the commentary noted that Hanoi had agreed to preliminary talks despite "limited bombing" attacks ordered by President Johnson.

protesting against the U.S. government."

Diplomats in Washington from some of the countries allied with the United States in Vietnam said the U.S. government had objected to Phnom Penh and Warsaw because it had promised the preliminary talks would be held, if possible, in a neutral Asian country to which South Vietnam and its Asian allies could send observer delegations.

This was expected to provoke a new howl from Hanoi, which has given every indication that it assumes the preliminary talks will be confined to the United States and North Vietnam, with their sole purpose the ending of all American attacks on North Vietnamese territory.

However, Asian diplomats in Washington said the United States has turned down South Vietnam's proposal for a summit conference of the seven allied nations with troops in Vietnam. The informants said the United States let it be known it is not enthusiastic for a summit before the initial contacts are made with Hanoi.

Johnson Heads Back to Ranch, Has Meeting With Eisenhower

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — President Johnson stopping en route to his Texas ranch after two days of Pacific policy talks in Honolulu, conferred today with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower about war and peace in the Pacific.

Johnson arrived at this Strategic Air Command base in the middle of the night, slept aboard his plane and, not long after dawn, welcomed Eisenhower for a breakfast meeting aboard the presidential jet. Their talk followed a Hawaii summit meeting with South Korean President Chung Hee Park, who got Johnson's assurance that the Korean will have a voice in any Vietnam peace negotiations and that the United States will stand by its commitments to help defend South Korea against any Communist incursions from the north.

Greets Military

Johnson alighted from his jet at 7 a.m. PST, greeted a few score military families gathered nearby, and then strolled be too soft toward the Communists with his peace bids.

Johnson reassured Park on this score during an eight-hour session much of which featured intimate talks by the two with no one but interpreters present.

Park publicly endorsed Johnson's cutback in bombing of North Vietnam and other efforts—still unsuccessful—to get talks with Hanoi under way.

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced Wednesday that Army Spec. 4 Frank Herrera, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Herrera of Green Bay, has been killed in action in Vietnam. He had been listed as missing.

Johnson added in a short speech: "I deeply believe that my successor—whatever he may be—will act in ways that will reflect America's abiding interest in Asia's freedom and security."

The communique was drawn up by the two chiefs during their discussions at the ocean-side estate of the late industrialist Henry J. Kaiser and dealt with two principal questions: Vietnam and Korea.

On Vietnam, the joint statement said: "Coupled with continued resolution and military firmness," the common goal of the allies of an honorable and secure peace requires "the earnest pursuit of a diplomatic solution"—and they hope "serious talks on the substance of peace could begin in the near future."

—Johnson reviewed developments over the past fortnight since his bombing curtailment to encourage peace contacts and Park "expressed his satisfaction with these developments."

B52s Rain Bombs On Valley in South

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of American B52s hit South Vietnam's A Chau Valley with more than 1,500 tons of bombs Wednesday and today in the war's heaviest aerial blows for a 24-hour period.

At least 60 of the eight-engine Stratofortresses streaked over the valley from bases in Thailand and Guam to bomb North Vietnamese truck parks, storage areas and troop concentrations.

The 25-mile-long valley has become the No. 1 target for the B52 saturation bombing. Senior U.S. officers believe the North Vietnamese may be using the valley as a staging area for another major attack on Hue, 25 miles to the northeast.

Intelligence reports told of a steadily increasing buildup of troops, trucks and possibly tanks in the valley as well as construction of new roads. A military spokesman said one flight of B52s attacked "tracked vehicles," which could be either tanks or armored personnel carriers.

The Communist command is believed to have 25 to 30 battalions in the Hue area, perhaps 15,000 to 18,000 men. The valley is used to funnel enemy troops and supplies from Laos eastward to the fringes of the old imperial capital on the coast where the enemy made his most determined stand during the lunar new year offensive in February.

Moved Into Valley

Vietnamese sources report that the North Vietnamese 325C Division, once deployed around the Khe Sanh base 50 miles to the north, has moved into the A Chau Valley.

Since April 1, the B52s have flown 55 separate missions over the area, with each mission averaging about six planes. An estimated 8,000 tons of explosives have been dropped.

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops battled enemy forces in the Mekong Delta and along the northern frontier Wednesday.

In the biggest battle, U.S. infantrymen from the 95th Division reported killing 78 Viet Cong in day-long fighting in the delta 43 miles southwest of Saigon. Four Americans were reported killed and 15 wounded.

Navy Research Shows:

Universe to End (in 10 Billion Years)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy researchers report they've obtained evidence the universe is a curved, closed system—and therefore inexorably doomed to fiery destruction some 10 billion years from now.

They said the new findings—gleaned from the flight of an Aerobee rocket—appear to provide a possibly definite answer to a great cosmological question that has plagued scientists for generations:

Will the now-expanding universe, with its millions of star-filled galaxies, grow forever—or is it a closed system whose expansion will gradually slow to a stop, with catastrophic results?

Dr. Richard C. Henry of the Naval Research Laboratory, who reported the findings Wednesday on behalf of a five-man research team, said the rocket-gathered evidence "indicates strongly that the universe is closed."

He said such a system, would "fall inward until all the galaxies condense again to one great fireball of matter and radiation."

Henry, 28, a research fellow

supported by the National Science Foundation, reported to a special symposium marking the dedication of NRL's new Hubert Center for Space Research.

He amplified in an interview: The Aerobee rocket, in a 100-mile-high flight above the White Sands, N.M., missile range last September, detected and measured certain cosmic x-rays coming from galaxies beyond the Milky Way.

That evidence indicated there may be 100 times as much matter dispersed in the vast reaches of space between galaxies as there is in all the mass of all the galaxies combined.

Henry explained that a closed universe—with a curved-space boundary—contains a certain amount of material within it. The amount is vastly greater than that of an open or ever-expanding universe.

"These observations of the Aerobee," he said, "indicate that there's enough matter in the universe to produce the complete curvature required for a closed universe."

School Bus Purchase Approved at Hilbert

Board of Education Accepts $6,984 Bid From Central Garage for Body, Chassis

HILBERT — A 60-passenger bus, costing $6,984, will be purchased from Central Garage, Potter, the board of education decided this week.

The firm was awarded the contract for a Bluebird body and a Dodge chassis.

The only other bid was from Van Haren Implement, Hilbert, for a Superior body and International chassis for $7,387 and a model with Ward body and International chassis for $7,645.

Bids Received

Two bids for carryall type vehicle were received from Central Garage and Kieglas Kuehne, Hilbert. No action was taken.

Items to be put in the budget resulted in lengthy discussions with $1,500 allocated for football which includes about $800, approved at a recent meeting, for new pants and jerseys. Other items included shoes, helmets, balls, scrimmage vests, tackling dummy, air dummies, paint and first aid equipment.

It was pointed out that more than $700 was collected last year from gate receipts and, though not shown separately in the receipt column, it offsets nearly half the budgeted amount.

Shop Purchases

A total of $1,100 was placed in the budget for agriculture and shop purposes. Richard Werblow, industrial arts teacher, explained the five foundry units he requested were for sophomore class use. Other major items included a band hacksaw, portable finishing sander, heavy duty sander and welding replacement.

He also requested a dust collector appliance and was asked to get competitive prices for the next meeting.

Basketball budget totaling $555 was approved which included 12 uniforms for $400.

Allowance for track was $230 and $52 for baseball.

Possibility of rotating purchases of athletic uniforms was discussed so all sports would not get them at the same time. It also was noted that a donation of used baseball uniforms would be looked into.

Two dictaphones for the office practice business education class were approved along with five new manual typewriters in a $1,550 budget for that department. A total of $225 for home economics which would include the purchase of a garbage disposal unit also was approved.

Mrs. Robert Bish, home economics teacher, requested that some consideration be given to replacing some of the sewing machines. These, the board decided, should be requested in the 1969-70 budget.

A library budget of $2,371 was approved and $1,259 for the English department with major expenditures going for literature text books.

In other action the board:

—Approved an overnight senior class trip to Chicago May 24-25, provided it was properly chaperoned.

—Approved an eighth grade educational trip to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry on a school day with some pupils from St. John the Baptist Catholic School participating if they wished, to reduce overall cost.

—Discussed future educational trips to Washington D.C. as requested by principal of an area high school with a decision to be made later, and approved a field trip to the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Appleton for the high school chemistry class.

—Approved hiring of summer help to assist with painting and radiator work.

Clintonville Links Open But Remodeling of Clubhouse Incomplete

CLINTONVILLE — Riverside Golf Club is now open.

Motorized carts still are not allowed on the course and clubhouse remodeling is incomplete and golfers will not have use of the facilities. Storage is unavailable now for carts or clubs. The pro shop and bar are closed. It may be several weeks before clubhouse facilities will be completed.

and assistance. Mrs. William Wenzel is the extending chairman. The club also presented the new group with a check to cover affiliation fees.

Mrs. Larry Laux was appointed chairman of the charter night program. She will be assisted by Mrs. Bill Koplien, Mrs. Bob Radtke and Mrs. Ken Radtke.

Mrs. Gary Klug, hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Charles Steinberg.

The next meeting will be held 8 p.m., April 29 at the home of Mrs. Tom Radtke.

Baseball Registration Sunday at Sherwood

SHERWOOD — Registration for Babe Ruth baseball will be 1 p.m. Sunday at the Legion Park here. Practice will follow. Ron Zahringier will be in charge.

Charges for Curb, Gutter, Utilities Set At Black Creek

BLACK CREEK — Special assessments for installation of curb, gutter and sidewalks and extensions for sewer and water in the village were approved at a recent public hearing here.

The board approved a $3.50 per front foot rate for sewer and water extensions and a 15 per cent hike over the front foot bid price for installation of curb and gutter. The increase is needed to pay for engineering and contingencies. The sidewalk charge will be the bid price plus 10 per cent.

In regular board action, building permits were approved for Leo Martin, Donald Gregorius and Larry Rohloff.

The board also reaffirmed its policy on the upkeep of vacant lots. Owners are required to cut weeds on their property or the village will cut them and the owner will be assessed for charges.

Officers Installed By Woman's Club

MARION — New officers were installed by outgoing president Mrs. Hank Bowers at the Marion Woman's Club annual founders day banquet Monday night at Zion Lutheran Church, Caroline.

The new slate of officers presented by Mrs. Martin Lutzevitz for two-year terms include Mrs. Douglas Mayne, president; Mrs. Stanley Buss, first vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Halpop, second vice president; Mrs. Lee Kersten, secretary; and Mrs. Leonard Morley, treasurer. Mrs. Bowers was given a gift of appreciation by the club.

Music and forensic students presented selections at the meeting.

Mrs. Otto Marquardt and Mrs. Douglas Mayne were program co-chairmen. Hostess chairman was Mrs. Tom Schieder assisted by Mrs. Art Bowers, Mrs. Nick Kieffer, Mrs. Edwin Carley, Mrs. Herman Peters, Mrs. Art Henschel and Mrs. Lee Kersten.

Street Study Asked

Three New City Officials Take Office at Seymour Meeting

SEYMOUR — Newly-elected city officials were seated here Tuesday night. Mayor Ivan Dunbar and new Alds. Malcolm Veitch (1st), and Joseph Trembl (2nd) received the oath of office from City Clerk Josephine Mar-nocha.

They replaced retiring Mayor Ben Truymen and aldermen Earl Brick (1st) and Elmer Seidl (2nd) who declined to seek another term.

The council renamed Ald. Earl Eick (1st) as council president. Mayor Dunbar's aldermanic committee appointments were confirmed by the council as follows:

Finance—Doepker, chairman, and Veitch; court and public safety—Eick, chairman, and Trembl; streets and sanitation—Trembl, chairman, and Veitch; public property and insurance—Eick, chairman, and Doepker; welfare and licensing—Doepker, chairman, and Trembl, and zoning, planning and development—Veitch, chairman, and Eick.

Memorial Plaque

Eick's public property committee was asked to study and report at a future meeting on the memorial plaque to the Wolf family as stipulated in the purchase of the Lydia Meyer property for the new municipal building. Her father, Charles Wolf, was the city's first mayor. She requested an appropriate memorial in his honor be placed in the new building.

Ald. Albert Doepker (2nd) requested a study of conditions on Elizabeth Street which is designed for heavy traffic. He noted the present condition of the street and bridge was unsuited for it and left the city open for possible liability. He noted that the side streets in the business section would be receiving increased traffic since U-turns are not prohibited in the area.

Pending Lawsuit

Ald. Veitch felt the condition of S. Ivory Street also needed attention particularly in view of the pending lawsuit facing the city because of it. The street narrows and curb and gutter ends at property owned by St. John Catholic Church. Curb resumes along business places on either corner where the street intersects with States 54 and 55 and County Trunk C.

In other action the council adopted several minor rule changes. One would require the clerk to provide minutes of the previous meeting to aldermen on the Friday preceding the council meeting. Another requires monthly written reports to the aldermen five days before a council meeting from the city treasurer. A previous report which had been tabled was approved after Miss Ruth explained the misunderstanding was due to a typographical error.

Outagamie Board Has Placid Session; Okays ILS System Purchase

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What has been expected to be a controversial organizational session of the Outagamie County Board this week proved to be relatively routine as supervisors apparently decided to hold off on some of the major items facing the board until the newly constituted committees begin functioning.

The board Wednesday did approve the airport committee's recommendation on the purchase of an instrument landing system (ILS) for the airport and a request from the parks and recreation committee for condemnation authority, but did not take up the issue of jail remodeling. Three other resolutions were held over for another month.

The ILS contract will be awarded to Airborne Instrument Laboratory, for a price which apparently will not be known until payment is made.

The firm and county had reached agreement on a price of $84,000 after a session of reverse auction bidding with Wilcox Electric Co. However, County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler said he had received a telegram Tuesday from Wilcox offering to further reduce their bid by $2,500.

No Idea

The reduced figure was put in the agreement for Airborne, but supervisors admitted they had no idea if Airborne would lower its price.

Supv. John Dietz, of the Airport Committee, decried the "Chinese auction" aspects the bidding had taken. He said he was in favor of saving money for the county, but that he also wanted to save the county's reputation.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, agreed. He said he felt the county was still overcharged, but should "quit jockeying" and make a decision.

A request for $15,000 to build office space for Air Wisconsin in the airline's hangar was sent back to committee when supervisors objected to having the cost amortized over the entire life of the hangar lease.

The proposal was amended to have Air Wisconsin pay the cost over five years and the airport committee was instructed to meet again with Air Wisconsin to reach a new agreement.

Authority Granted

The parks committee was authorized to start condemnation proceedings, if necessary, to acquire a 20-acre parcel of land at Mosquito Hill, but Supv. G. Allen Bubolz said they would still seek a negotiated settlement.

The land is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Magolski and includes 12 acres on the hill itself.

Bubolz said the parks committee has sought to negotiate with Magolski, but that he has refused to set any price on the property. Several supervisors indicated they felt the appraised value of $3,189 put on the land was too low. Bubolz said the committee has indicated a willingness to go higher but Magolski has not indicated what price would be acceptable.

Bubolz indicated condemnation would be used only as a last resort, but wanted the authority as leverage in negotiations. The property is the last major piece on the hill which the county does not have under option.

Reduce Parking

A request to the City of Appleton to reduce parking time limits around the courthouse from four hours to two hours was approved by the board.

The reduced time limit is aimed at getting a greater turnover in parking and relieving some of the congestion in the immediate courthouse vicinity.

An earlier proposal to request parking meters was dropped when it was learned installation costs between $80 and $110 per meter.

The parks committee also was given authority to regulate fishing at county-owned access sites and docking of boats at the access sites.

Fishing Shanties

The committee reported it was having problems with fishing shanties on floats occupying most of the shoreline at the sites to the detriment of shore-based fishing.

A proposal to offer the UW-Fox Valley Center to the State Coordinating Commission on Higher Education was held over for a month at the request of Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, chairman of the Health and Education Committee. DeLaHunt said the wording of the proposal would have to be changed.

A report on hiring of an architect for the jail remodeling project had been expected but members of the public properties committee later indicated they had not been able to conclude the study in time for this board session.

The search for an architect started after the state issued an order March 22 giving the county six months to start remodeling or face having the jail closed.

The Council accepted the resignation of Mrs. Lloyd Habermann from the Citizens Advisory Committee and three new members were appointed. They are John Horn, Richard Felsing and Mrs. John Vechart Jr.

Defense Director

Delos Reynolds was appointed civil defense director, a post which has been vacant for some time.

Mrs. Hugo Zutz Jr. will serve an unexpired term to July 1 on the library board due to the resignation of Mrs. Michael Ariens.

The council accepted the resignation of Mrs. Vechart as head of the election board. Mrs. Paul Engel was appointed to serve on the election board until Feb. of next year.

The appointment of a city clerk and an assessor were held in abeyance. City Clerk Lynn Williams is retiring. Applications are being taken for these posts.

Clintonville Hey Days

Candidates for Queen Learn Responsibilities

CLINTONVILLE — Hey Days queen contest tickets went on sale in the Clintonville and Marion areas Wednesday following acceptance by Robert Witz of the chairmanship of ticket sales for Clintonville Celebrations, Inc. (CCI).

Among the first to get tickets for the annual civic celebration were seven candidates for the title "Miss Hey Days" who were introduced to their responsibilities in publicizing the three-day affair at a dinner Tuesday night at Fischer's Supper Club.

Witz said more than 1,200 tickets, each containing a ballot for the queen contest and a contest entry blank which could qualify purchasers for choices of several valuable prizes, had been distributed by Wednesday evening.

As in previous years, purchasers of booster tickets for the celebration July 12-14 will have a chance to tell in 25 words or less why they believe Hey Days are fun. Winners of the contest will have a choice of Donald Sommers, ordinances and resolutions.

Sally Graves Heads Wittenberg FHA

WITTENBERG — Sally Graves was elected president of the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) for the 1968-69 term at Tuesday's business meeting. She will succeed Ellen Peterson, who will graduate with the class of 1968.

Others elected were Ann Hoffman, vice president; Beverly Wesco, secretary; Linda Linke, treasurer; Linda Kiedrowski, historian; Marlene Kosobicki, reporter; Patty Larson, parliamentarian, and Allison Siebert, recreation chairman.

Witz's acceptance of the ticket chairmanship is one of several significant changes made in the organization of responsibilities for Hey Days this year. He will organize a team of salesmen and supervise distribution and sale of tickets in the queen contest.

Another major modification this year is the assignment of additional responsibility to individual directors for various phases of the activity in order to lessen the load which Chairman McConley has carried during the last two previous celebrations.

McConley, who was a salaried officer during 1966 and 1967, is serving without pay this year and many of the duties he performed personally have been delegated to other volunteers.

Veterans Home Water Consumption Rapped

Crystal River and when the home reaches its capacity it will draw less than 3 per cent, Moses told the lakes residents.

Summer Level

Many of the lakes residents were concerned over the mid-summer drop in the level of the lakes. Harold Dushek, Waupaca, suggested the installation of a dam at the mouth of the Crystal River to control a more constant water level. Others gave other suggestions on what the state should do. One said "We don't want you to go away but just leave us and our lakes alone".

Moses said he did not know what effect deep wells would have on private wells of the area, but agreed to report the idea of wells to the Bureau of Engineering for study.

Large said after hearing the many questions from residents, there is enough concern over the matter to warrant the state to reconsider its decision to take water from the lake and make a further detailed study of the program.

Richard Penn, a member of the protective association, told Moses, "We have a lot of open questions. You should supply us with all the facts and then grant us a public hearing so that we can compare our facts and figures with yours."

Completion of the water treatment plant is scheduled for early summer 1969 and Moses was reluctant to say whether there was time for a detailed study or if it was possible to halt progress on the plant until a study could be made.

While explaining the new water treatment plant, Moses also said that the new sewage treatment plant now being planned would not allow any effluent to drain into the Crystal River, as had been rumored, and that it would be located where it would not contaminate any wells of the area. "With both the water treatment plant and the sewage treatment plant, we have been very careful to make sure the lakes or the residents of the area would not be harmed in any way," Moses said.

Esler said he had been told by Freeman Holmer, administrator of the Department of Resource Development, earlier Wednesday, that if the residents attending the meeting did not receive a satisfactory explanation he should be contacted and he would arrange a public hearing. Esler said he would contact Holmer, Thursday, and request such a hearing.
